PEABODY'S CONTEST [illegible] TOMORROW

Papers Completed Yesterday by Mr. Waldron. Charges of Frauds in Several Counties of State, Many Already Proven.

Special to the Gazette.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—The Peabody contest for Governor Adams' seat will be filed tomorrow. The papers are now prepared and Attorney John W. Waldron, author of the document, stated to-night to your representative that the contest would be filed the first thing tomorrow morning.

According to Mr. Waldron, frauds will be charged against the Democrats in several counties of the state, and the papers will call special attention to the enormous fraudulent vote already proven before the supreme court. The papers will express the belief that Governor Peabody was elected by from 5,000 to 10,000 majority and that a fair investigation will prove this contention.

Important Matters.

It is not probable that the legislature will take up this matter tomorrow, but the hearing of the contest papers, the appointment of another investigation committee and the fight to be made in the senate against Senators Born and Healy will be among the most important subjects to come before the legislature during its session, and if the fur does fly tomorrow [illegible] the members themselves will be disappointed.

The house committee on routine also may be appointed tomorrow, although the Healy and Born cases and the filing of the Peabody contest may make it necessary to put this off another day.

Special Committees.

Speaker Dickson, of the house, announced today that the special committees would be named tomorrow, but at that time it was not certain when the Peabody contest would be filed.

The legislature did nothing today. The house adjourned at 10 o'clock in the morning in order to allow members more time in which to prepare their bills. The senate after taking numerous recesses to allow the leaders to get together on the Born and Healy matter finally adjourned without transacting any business. Caucuses were held during the day relative to the unseating of Born and Healy, and the leaders, after reaching a compromise got to seesawing with the result that the matter will go over until tomorrow.

The Republicans made an agreement this morning with the Democrats whereby Senator Born was to resign to make room for Senator Dick of Walsenburg, who was arbitrarily unseated two years ago by the Democrats, and Senator Healy was allowed to hold his seat on the condition that further contests against Republican senators should be abandoned.

Born Balks.

When it came to a showdown this afternoon Senator Born balked and more futile caucusing followed. The Republican leaders are angry but declare that they do not wish to resort to Democratic tactics. However, if the opposition does not keep faith they say that tomorrow there will not only be seat Born and Healy, but enough other Democratic senators, the legality of whose seats is in question, to give the Republicans a two-thirds majority in the senate.

Two years ago the Democrats unseated Dick and McDonald without a two-thirds majority, as is required by the statutes, and they will now get a dose of their own medicine if they do not fulfill their promises of today and yesterday.

DECLARE HE [illegible] MEANS [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The appointment of General Nelson A. Miles as inspector general of the state of Massachusetts overshadowed all other questions in the discussion of the army appropriation bill in the house today.

The debate had proceeded leisurely until Mr. Hull in charge of the bill offered an amendment providing that retired officers above the grade of major should not receive the full pay of their grade when assigned to duty with the militia of the several states.

Several members declared that the amendment was directed especially at General Miles. Mr. Hull insisted that he had no such thought in mind and argued that the best results were obtained from officers of the lower grades. He asserted that not until the law was passed allowing increased pay for officers assigned to the militia, did retired officers of the higher grades apply for the appointments.

He said it was such increased pay and not patriotism which prompted them and he characterized their conduct as unseemly. This statement roused Mr. Cockran who declared that it was simply penalizing superior officers to the advantage and profit of inferior officers. After a lively debate the amendment was adopted.

Mr. Prince called attention to the large retired list which included 236 brigadier generals, who, he said, could not have been retired by operation of law, though he disclaimed any intention of charging any maladministration of the law.

Mr. Jonason (R., [illegible]) in a short speech favored an agreement among the cotton growers to curtail the cotton production one-half for the next year.

Consideration of the army bill was not concluded when the house adjourned until tomorrow.

NAVAL RECRUITS

United States Officer Opens Recruiting Office at Creek and May Secure Many Enlistments.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—W. G. Abbott, an officer of the United States navy, opened up a recruiting office at the National hotel this morning and will continue in session for six more days.

Flattering inducements are being offered to the young men of the district to enter this branch of the service and the officers in charge state that they have been instructed to secure 6,500 men and boys during the course of their United States city. Machinists, boilers, firemen, electricians and sailors are desired with pay ranging from $60 to $70 per month with board furnished, so many Cripple Creek youngsters are seriously contemplating trying to pass the examination which is required during the next few days.

The affair has been kept very quiet by all parties concerned and while Mr. Sherman was a prominent jeweler in this city his most intimate friends knew nothing of his marriage to Miss Ella G. Fical, one of Colorado Springs' society belles.

DISASTROUS [illegible] MORNING FIRE

Firemen Have Hard Fight in Bitter Cold.

LOSS IS ABOUT $12,000

STRANGER LEFT IN CHARGE OF FIRE TEAM ALLOWS THEM TO RUN AWAY — THE LIST OF LOSSES.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—Quite a disastrous fire occurred in this city at 5 o'clock this morning, and after fighting the flames for nearly two hours the firemen at last gained control, but not before a loss of between $10,000 and $12,000 had been reached.

The fire originated in the millinery store of Mrs. E. W. Bowman from an overheated stove. The flames immediately pushed their way through a thin wood partition into the hardware store of William Ardell. Before the flames had made much headway in the adjoining building, which was occupied by a grocery and market owned by D. F. Shecklin, the flames were under control, and while the former two suffered heavy losses from the flames the latter suffered practically a total loss, as nearly everything was destroyed by smoke and water.

Officer George Wright discovered the fire, and upon the arrival of the three hose teams lines of hose were laid from every available plug in the neighborhood. The progress of the firemen was checked by the bitter cold weather, but considering all matters excellent work was accomplished by them.

The loss to the harness shop will reach $5,500, with insurance of $3,500. The grocery store follows with $1,200 loss, covered by insurance. The stock of millinery valued at from $500 to $1,000 is a total loss, covered by insurance. Damage to the building will amount to $3,000, practically covered by insurance. The first two named stores will immediately resume business as soon as the necessary repairs to the building can be made and their stocks replenished. It is questionable whether the millinery establishment will attempt to resume business again in this locality at any rate.

During the progress of the fire every member of the department was called into action and a large gray team belonging to the department was left in the hands of a stranger. It is supposed that the bitter cold drove him from his seat and he had hardly left the team to themselves when the horses [illegible]. After standing for several blocks the king bolt broke, which left the frenzied horses dragging the front trucks for several more blocks until they were finally stopped by Officer Harding of the police force. The damage to the wagon was very slight and the team escaped practically unscratched.

MURDER OF WELLS FARGO MESSENGER IN CHIHUAHUA.

Latta, a Wells Fargo messenger, running between this city and Mexico City, has just been received by the company officials in this city. The dead body of the messenger was discovered in his car at La Guna, Chihuahua. It is believed his death was accomplished by robbers. It is asserted that no details have as yet been received.

THREE MEN ARE INJURED

Accident to Cage in the Ajax Property.

ALL ARE IN THE HOSPITAL

MANY BREAKS, CUTS AND BRUISES SUSTAINED BUT THE ATTENDING PHYSICIANS THINK ALL WILL RECOVER.

Special to the Gazette.

VICTOR, Jan. 11.—At 10 o'clock this morning a cage guide broke in the Ajax property on Battle mountain and tonight three men are confined in the Ride Cross hospital, two of whom are badly injured.

Just before the hour named Shift Boss J. R. Van Doolan with miners W. H. Shoemaker and Ben McCloskey boarded the cage at the eighth level and gave the engineer the signal to lower the cage the three men expecting to go to the next level below. When about half way between the levels with the cage descending at a good rate of speed, a broken guide struck the cage almost completely wrecking it.

The sudden contact of the heavy piece of timber on the iron cage threw the men forward, sliding them off onto the iron floor of the ninth level. All received severe injuries, being badly crushed and receiving internal injuries. Shoemaker received a fracture of the right leg and deep scalp wound; Van Doolan had several ribs fractured; McCloskey had several bones of the left foot fractured.

Fellow miners hearing the terrible crash from the iron and wood left their work and came to the rescue of the injured men and after a temporary cage had been fixed up the three injured men were brought to the surface where the ambulance was in waiting and all were removed to the Red Cross hospital.

After a thorough examination by the attending physicians it was found that while they were suffering from serious and very painful injuries yet it is believed that none of the men will die.

TRUANT OFFICER

Orders Messenger Boys of the Telegraph Companies to Quit Work and Go to School Which They Did.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11. The truant officer of this city today got in his work among the messenger boys of the Western Union and Postal companies by ordering every youngster to leave his job and return to school which request was immediately complied with. The two telegraph companies suffered a stagnation of business for a few hours. By tonight they will have the school boys replaced by larger ones so the telegraph service is going on as [illegible] tonight.

SALT LAKE, Jan. 11.—At a joint caucus of the Republicans of the two houses of the legislature tonight George Sutherland was nominated unanimously for United States senator to succeed Thomas Kearns. INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 11.—The Republican joint caucus tonight nominated Senator A. J. Beveridge to succeed himself and Congressman James A. Hemenway to fill the unexpired term of C. W. Fairbanks. The nominations insure election.

SENATE SESSION

Dividend Between Statehood and Government Regulation of Railroads.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The attention of the senate today was divided between the statehood question and governmental regulation of railroads. Mr. Newlands made a formal speech on the railroad subject, and at the close engaged in a spirited controversy over the points involved with Senators Spooner, Foraker and others. All amendments to the statehood bill, except that relating to tighter traffic in Indian territory, were agreed to.

The bill making the restriction on the transportation of lottery tickets between the states applicable to transportation between the states and territories, was taken up and passed.

Newlands Resolution.

Mr. Newlands then addressed the senate on the joint resolution which he introduced some days ago which provides for a commission with instructions to frame a national incorporation act for the construction of railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

Mr. Newlands said it was time to ignore state lines in the operation and management of railroads, and added that the power sought was constitutional and involved no contradiction of the Democratic views as to the reserve powers of state and local self-government. He held that because of the relations of railroads to interstate commerce and the jurisdiction of congress over interstate commerce congress had a clear right to exempt the state railroads incorporated under national legislation from all state or local taxation, and from the regulation of rates by such states. He advocated an increase of the authority of the interstate commerce commission so as to authorize it to regulate rates and said the transfer of control of the railroads now exercised by all the states to the national commission would have the very desirable effect of destroying rebates. Such control, he contended, would be advantageous to the railroads in that it would relieve them from the oppressions of varying conditions of popular judgment and taken them out of politics.

Drive and Coax Railroads.

Mr. Foraker asked Mr. Newlands how he proposed to secure the re-incorporation of the various railroad companies as proposed by his resolution, to which Mr. Newlands replied that the measure is so framed as to partially drive and partially coax the railroads. He added that one means which might be resorted to would be to prohibit roads from taking out national corporation papers and from engaging in interstate commerce.

"Does the senator claim that the power to prohibit is comprised in the power to regulate commerce?" asked Mr. Foraker.

Mr. Newlands replied that he thought so.

Mr. Spooner raised the point that it would be impossible by federal enactment to regulate commerce in the states.

Mr. Newlands replied that he did not contend that congress had power to regulate commerce exclusively to any one state.

The statehood bill was taken up and an amendment made which will have the effect of leaving the location of the capital to the legislature of Oklahoma.

The amendment prohibiting the sale of liquor to Indians in Indian territory for all time, and to other sections for ten years created a discussion.

Protect Indians.

Mr. Beveridge maintained it was necessary to protect the Indians.

Mr. Gorman called it a bad form of paternalism and a reflection on the people of the proposed state.

Mr. Morgan and Mr. Mallory also criticised the amendment. It was passed over for the time.

The amendment making a donation of $5,000,000 for the benefit of the public schools of the proposed state of Arizona was adopted after striking out the provision for the payment of interest on the sum.

At the instance of Mr. Long the bill was so amended as to require payment for improvements on leased lands before sale.

An amendment giving to the state exclusive jurisdiction over national parks and reservations also was inserted.

Mr. Foraker then presented his amendment providing that the portion of the bills applying to New Mexico and Arizona shall not take effect until it shall be favorably voted upon, but pending his consideration the senate, at 4:15 went into executive session and at 4:29 adjourned.

LARGE FUNDS

Changes in Various Bank Accounts in the District—State Funds Deposited in First National.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—Considerable money has been changing hands in the city of Cripple Creek within the last 48 hours. The first change of a large account was the deposit of $100,000 in the First National bank here by State Treasurer Holmberg. A little later in the day the county treasurer drew $71,886 from the First National bank of this city and deposited it in the Cripple Creek and Victor banks controlled by D. H. Moffat, and while the first fund was transferred from the First National bank in Denver to this bank here all three banks of the district make considerable by the transaction.

BORN-HEALY CASE

Adams, Patterson and Democratic Senators Plot to Defeat Unseating.

Special to the Gazette.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—Governor Adams, T. M. Patterson and the Democratic senators held a long caucus tonight at the Democratic headquarters and decided to fight the attempt to be made tomorrow by the Republican senators to unseat Senators Born and Healy. This announcement was made as the conclusion of the caucus at 11 tonight.

The stand of the Democrats will precipitate a bitter fight in the senate tomorrow and a lively session is expected. The Republican senators will hold another caucus tomorrow at the state house before [illegible] their final plans for the fight. All attempts on the part of the Republicans to effect a compromise thus far have been futile it seems and they declare that they will put Senators Born and Healy out tomorrow.

They also say that if necessary they will unseat other Democratic senators by the majority rule since the Democratic leaders have absolutely disregarded their promises and have invited open battle by declaring off on compromise negotiations.

The announcement of the stand taken by the Democrats tonight has created quite a furore among the politicians. The weather promises to be mighty warm about the capitol building tomorrow in spite of the fact that it is the coldest time of the winter in other parts of the city.

No one knows what the new Adams-Patterson scheme is. There are some who believe that the two bosses have again been trifling with the four Wolcott Republican senators although the Republican leaders assert tonight that their ranks are solid.

RAILROAD VIOLATIONS

PRESIDENT RIPLEY, OF THE SANTA FE, WITHDRAWS REQUEST FOR A HEARING BEFORE INTERSTATE COMMISSION.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—President E. P. Ripley, of the Santa Fe railway, has withdrawn his request for a hearing before the interstate commission in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company rebate case. His reasons for this action are given by him in the following telegram to the chairman of the commission:

"Since requesting a re-hearing in the matter of the investigation of New Mexico coal rates I have been furnished with notes of evidence already taken and find that there is not testimony to support the criticisms of the press that have concerned me personally the most, and while there may have been technical violations of the law yet inasmuch as I know them to have been unintentional and that they resulted in injury to no shipper, and in view of the fact that the entire matter is subject of a pending civil action, which will be heard before a federal court, I beg to withdraw such request.

In regard to the statement that there has been "technical violations" of the law, Mr. Ripley said:

"I mean that the tariffs we filed with the commission included the price of the coal and that there was nothing in the tariffs to show that this was the case. That is the way those matters were customarily handled, and though not technically legal it led to no discrimination nor injury to any one. These tariffs have been corrected at Washington, and would have been corrected long ago had the matter been called to my attention.

"The so-called secret rate sheet is nothing more nor less than a regular division sheet with another road. The other circuit was necessitated because the rates included the price of coal and the price fluctuated. The price could be learned only from the Colorado Fuel & Iron company."

COLD AT BUTTE.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 11.—Butte experienced the coldest day in two years, the temperature ranging from 10 degrees below zero in the heart of the city to 25 and 30 below on the windswept flats below town. Falling temperature throughout the state is general today.

TEXAS CATTLE RANGES GET PLENTY OF SNOW

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 11.—The cattle sections of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona have been visited by the heaviest and most copious snowfall known in many years. A good range is assured for the coming season.

NATIONAL LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION

National Live Stock Association Will Not Admit Railroads.

CATTLEMEN OBJECT

THREATEN TO WITHDRAW IF THE REORGANIZATION IS TO INCLUDE THE CARRIERS—THE PACKERS ARE ADMITTED.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—The reorganization plan of Pres. Frank J. Hagenbarth by which the National Live Stock association was to be remodeled and its control vested in a board composed of representatives of the trades and interests allied to the raising of live stock has been torn to pieces so far as the railroads are concerned.

For two days an executive committee composed of three representatives of each industry has been working on the proposed reorganization and it will require at least one day more. No report will be made to the convention before Friday.

Before it was definitely concluded to permit the railroads from acquiring membership in the association a bitter fight was waged in the committee room.

Cattlemen Oppose Railroads.

The Texas and Colorado cattlemen became wrought up over the possibility of the railroads having a voice in the management of the Live Stock association and they announced their intentions to withdraw from the association if the measure was carried.

Other western organizations gave evidence of a desire to take similar action and the adoption of the plan to admit the railroads would probably have resulted in the disruption of the National Live Stock association.

There was a lively debate over the packers but it was finally decided to permit them to herd with the elect and they will be admitted into the association. All the other branches of live stock industry will also be allowed to have representatives in the reorganization.

Only the railroads remain outside. The roads are at a disadvantage as far as a hearing is concerned. They have no representative in the convention and are unable to make reply when speeches attacking them are made. Their cause has been urged before the various committees by men who believe that they should be admitted, but they are not trained traffic officials.

The general committee today compiled a new set of by-laws for the control of the organization which are to be printed, referred to the various organizations tomorrow afternoon, considered again by the committee and finally presented to the convention for action on Friday morning.

Poor Beef; Low Prices.

Frank Benton, of Colorado, read a paper describing live stock conditions in the past as compared with those of the present. His remarks were filled with humorous hits at the cattle business, and kept the convention in continuous laughter. Mr. Benton deplored the low prices for beef that prevail at the present time, but declared that the chief cause of the situation was the poor quality of the beef sent to market. He advocated the keeping of smaller herds and the maintenance of a higher standard in the quality of cattle shipped.

"Governmental Regulation of Interstate Transportation" was the subject of an exhaustive address by S. H. Cowan, of Fort Worth. He prefaced his address proper by saying that the stockmen were continually reminded that they should live in harmony with those with whom they did business, and particularly with the railroads. The roads in Texas, he asserted, had increased their rates on cattle within the last two years by from 20 to 30 per cent. During that period, he said, the prices for cattle had gone up but 10 per cent. There was small chance for harmony, he thought, under such circumstances unless a few concessions were made by those on the other side of the question.

Interstate Commerce Law.

The existing interstate commerce law had been of great value, he declared, and he was opposed to the enactment of a new statute which might possibly destroy the benefits derived from the present law without compensating benefits. The speaker insisted that the present law was adequate when some of its imperfections had been eradicated and he proceeded to point out some of its defects, among the chief of which he cited the wording of the "long and short haul" clause, and he suggested alterations which would make it more effective than at present. The claim frequently made by the railroads that the law would tend to make freight rates unprofitable to them, he declared to be unfounded.

He urged that in all cases the orders of the interstate commerce commission should be binding and not to be set aside unless it could be shown that they were in conflict with other laws.

The vital defect with the interstate commerce law, he declared, was that the commissioners lacked the power to enforce their decrees. He favored speedy action by congress empowering the commissioners to make their orders binding upon railroads and upon the shippers.

At the conclusion of Mr. Cowan's address the convention adjourned until tomorrow morning, when it is expected that the committee on general organization will report to the convention.

SENATORS ARRAIGNED

Charges of Boodling Made Against Niedringhaus.

A STATEMENT BY KERENS

DEMOCRATIC STATE SENATE STARTS AN INVESTIGATION AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE FOR THIS PURPOSE.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 11.—Representative Grace of St. Louis, Republican, has introduced a resolution in the lower house of the general assembly calling for an investigation of the report that St. Louis brewers had given $20,000 to Thomas K. Niedringhaus, chairman of the state Republican committee and caucus nominee for United States senator, to influence legislation during the present session of the legislature.

A motion to lay the resolution on the table was lost after a roll call had been demanded. The bitterest feelings were shown by the two factions during the discussion of the resolutions, which were finally adopted through Democrats joining the Kerens Republicans in voting for them. Siberian [illegible] Niedringhaus men to investigate Kerens were voted down, thanks to the Democrats again.

The Democratic senate took up the Neidringhaus campaign fund matter and appointed an investigating committee consisting of Senators McDavid, McAllister, Dowell, Mudgett and [illegible]. The committee consists of three Democrats and two Republicans.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11.—R. C. Kerens, formerly member of the Republican committee from Missouri, who failed to secure the Republican caucus nomination for United States senator to succeed Francis M. Cockrell, made a statement today as to the action of the legislature looking to the investigation of the campaign contributions of Thomas K. Neidringhaus, the successful candidate.

Mr. Kerens said:

"I have read the names upon the resolution offered by Mr. Grace in the house of representatives of the Missouri legislature. I had no advice nor knowledge of that procedure. The legislature is perfectly competent to manage its own affairs without suggestion from anyone. I have not and will not intrude upon their prerogatives.

"Touching my candidacy for the senatorship, my position was stated in my letter to every Republican senator and member-elect. To this I have adhered vigorously.

"I would not accept the office of senator with the slightest taint upon its title. A United States senatorship tarnished, if secured by the promise of federal or state offices or other disreputable considerations would be a blight upon its owner that would destroy its usefulness to the state, the people and the party to which the recipient belonged, therefore it should be assumed the friends of Mr. Neidringhaus in the legislature will place no obstacle in the way of the fullest inquiry into the many rumors current and published involving improper methods."

ROJESTVENSKY [illegible]

RUSSIAN ADMIRALTY SAY THE ADMIRAL'S SQUADRON WILL NOT RETURN HOME BUT WILL BE REINFORCED.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—The admiralty has not given the slightest official confirmation of the report of the recall of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron. On the contrary, the officials point calmly to the preparations being made to reinforce the squadron with a division of the third Pacific squadron as sufficient evidence that Rojestvensky will not return to European waters. The Russian ice breaker Ermack, at Libau, has been ordered to keep the channel clear for the ships which are being made ready for sea.

Under the French regulations it is maintained that Rojestvensky's ships could cruise in the Indian ocean, coaling and provisioning from their own storeships at Jibutil, French Somaliland, in the waters of the island of Madagascar and the island of Reunion and other French islands, until reinforcements arrive, without cause of complaint from Japan, inasmuch as the regulations are the same as those issued during the Spanish-American war. Certainly only absolute necessity will compel the admiralty to forego the strategical advantage of keeping Admiral Rojestvensky in a position of constant menace to the Japanese while awaiting reinforcements.

The reports of the arrival of the Japanese warships at Diego Garcia Chagos islands are not credited at the admiralty, though there is reason to believe that armed cruisers may be cruising as far west as the Chagos islands, but there are no regular warships there.

ANOTHER CUT IN THE PRICE OF WESTERN OIL.

CHANUTE, Kas., Jan. 11.—The Standard Oil company today announced a five cent cut in western oil, making a cut of 15 cents in the last three weeks. The Chanute Oil Producers' association has decided to suspend field operations until there is an increase in the price. The Standard, it is said, will be unable to handle the present output in the Kansas field until their new building to Whiting, Indian Territory, is finished.

SENATORIAL DEADLOCK BROKEN AT DENVER; WILL BE SETTLED

Alamosa Man Will Give Way to Republican—Healy to Remain to Give Leadville Representation—Peabody Contest Papers Will Be Filed Tomorrow.

Special to the Telegraph.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—Senator Healy, Democrat, of Leadville, representing the Fourteenth district, is to retain his seat; Senator Born, Democrat, of Alamosa, representing the Sixth district, is to resign, and Senator James F. Dick, Republican, of Walsenburg, is to be seated in Senator Born's place.

In brief these are the terms of a compromise reached before the convening of the senate this morning at a conference between the leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties. The deal will probably be consummated this afternoon.

Senator Healy is to be allowed to retain his seat because it is not desired to deprive the Leadville district of representation.

McDonald's Case.

Moreover, Jesse F. McDonald, who was unseated two years ago by the Democrats to make room for Senator Healy, is now lieutenant governor, and is no longer contesting for the Healy seat.

As it is said that Governor Adams would probably order another election in the Fourteenth district in the event of the unseating of Senator Healy, which would doubtless result in the election and reseating of the Leadville senator, his district being Democratic.

The Democrats know that they robbed Senator Dick, of Walsenburg of his seat two years ago, because they were in control, and not because of any question of the legality of his election. Senator Dick holds his certificate of election of two years ago, and is a contestant for the Born seat.

Rather than to see both Born and Healy unseated, the Democratic leaders have asked Born to resign in favor of Senator Dick, in order that Senator Healy may be saved. It is said that Senator Born will comply.

The senate this morning took a recess till 2 o'clock this afternoon after electing Mrs. Anna G. Williams, of Denver, an assignable clerk. No other business was done.

At the conclusion of the caucus of the Republican senators this afternoon it was said that Senators McCarthy, Barela and Millard, Republicans, and Bailey, Hughes, Griffith, Hill and Adams will not be molested if the deal to unseat Born and to seat Senator Dick is carried through.

House Committees.

Speaker Dickson of the house of representatives announced this morning that he would be ready to appoint the house committees tomorrow.

On motion of Representative W. F. Cannon, of Denver, the house then adjourned till 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to allow members more time to prepare their bills.

The morning was devoted to caucusing by the members of both houses. It is believed that both branches of the legislature will get down to business tomorrow.

Governor Peabody will not file his contest papers until tomorrow. Attorneys working on the papers all day yesterday and till late last night, but they were not in shape for filing this morning.

Papers Will be Long.

Governor Peabody stated this afternoon that his contest papers will be longer than he expected. They will go thoroughly into the recent election, not only in Denver, but in several other counties in the state.

They will declare fraud in various Denver wards and precincts, cite the action of the supreme court in convicting thirty-four Democrats for fraud, and it is said will show more than 8,000 fraudulent votes in Denver, and in the neighborhood of 20,000 in the state.

Adams county, it is said, will be investigated, but particular attention will be paid to the city and county of Denver.

It is believed that the election commission to be appointed can finish its work and make its report within five weeks.

ADAMS MAY ASK BELL FOR HIS RESIGNATION

DENVER, Jan. 11.—It is rumored that Governor Adams will ask Sherman M. Bell, adjutant general of Colorado, for his resignation this afternoon. It is said that General Bell will refuse to comply with the request. General Bell says that he will resign when he gets ready and not before.

Chief of Police Reynolds is in Detroit in Pursuit of George Conklin, the Alleged Murderer of Bessie Bouton.

The silence that has enshrouded the Colorado Springs police department for the past two weeks on the subject of the Cutler Mountain murder and everything connected therewith has not been broken, but the whereabouts of Chief of Police Reynolds, which has been a carefully guarded secret, has leaked out, and he is now definitely known to be hot on the trail of the man, who, if not supposed to be the murderer of Bessie Bouton, is at least wanted badly in connection with the crime.

Chief Reynolds is today in Detroit, Mich., and is conducting a search there for George Conklin, a man whom he has followed through numerous big cities of the middle west, and who is said to have made an effort in several cities to dispose of jewelry which is believed to have been the property of Bessie Kemper Bouton.

Information concerning Bessie Bouton has been furnished to the police department here by relatives of the dead woman constantly since her disappearance was reported by the Telegraph. During the past two weeks not a word has been published anywhere, with the authority of the Colorado Springs police department, no officer connected with the local department having uttered one word on the case. The movements of Chief Reynolds, since he left Colorado Springs, have been carefully guarded, almost as well as those of the murderer himself, but information positive in its character as to where the chief has been and what he has been doing has been secured by the Telegraph.

On information received from the family of the dead woman, if she be Bessie Bouton, as is now fully believed by the officers, a description of several valuable pieces of jewelry that she owned was placed in the chief's hands, and he set about running down the possessor of these jewels. He received a clue to this property in Colorado Springs, and it led him to Denver and also to Pueblo. In the former city he again secured trace of the jewels and the clue was followed to Chicago.

After a careful search through the places where jewels of mountain ownership might be offered for sale in Chicago, in which search Chief Reynolds had the hearty co-operation of the police department in that city, trace of the jewels was again found, and the chief pursued his man on to the east. To Battle Creek, Mich., and then to Jackson he went, at each place getting trace of some small of the jewels that constituted his clue to the man, and today, after following the clues in each of these cities to the end, Chief Reynolds has proceeded to Detroit. It is believed certain that Conklin is now in either Detroit or Mount Clemens, Mich., and Chief Reynolds is said to be almost certain to land his man within a very short time.

The chief declared in this city, immediately after the murder was discovered, that he was confident he would be able to clear up the mystery. No case in the history of crime in Colorado has offered less to work on in the beginning. With the positive information that Bessie Bouton was in this city when she received her last remittance from her family in Syracuse, N. Y., however, and a description of the jewels that were removed from her person when she was abandoned, dead, on the bleak slope of Cutler mountain, the chief took up the search, with the result that he is now close upon the trail of a man whom there is strong reason to believe will afford valuable links in the chain of information that is wanted to clear up the mystery.

William McConnell, of Idaho, Testifies in Smoot Hearing—Senator Knox Makes Inquiries—Many Women Spectators at Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. The defense in the Senator Reed Smoot investigation was begun today. The room of the senate committee on privileges and elections was crowded as during the progress of the inquiry into the secrets of the Mormon church, which was conducted by the attorney for the protestants against Senator Smoot retaining his seat. Most of the spectators were women. Senator Knox, recently appointed a member of the committee, attended the hearing today for the first time.

William J. McConnell, of northern Idaho, was the first witness called. The examination was conducted by Waldemar Van Cott, of Salt Lake, who is associated with A. S. Worthington, of Washington, as counsel for Senator Smoot. Mr. McConnell described his occupation as former merchant, half politician and lawyer for his friends. He was a senator of the Fifty-first congress, and was governor of Idaho from 1898 to 1896 inclusive, serving two successive terms. He is a member of the Presbyterian church.

Political Conditions.

The witness was asked to describe the political conditions, and took up early days, when he said he had lobbied before the legislature when the first effort was made to disfranchise the Mormons. He declared that he was prejudiced against Mormons, but that he found that most of the Gentiles were practicing "the science which in our country is called poker."

He said he had never known Mormons to gamble and drink.

He followed this testimony with a review of his acquaintance with Mormons during the agitation against the religion in Idaho.

He assisted in bringing about the repeal of the test oath of citizenship, and afterward went among the Mormons on a lecture tour. He had observed the people, he said, and their morals were of a high, praiseworthy character.

Senator Knox asked counsel to inform him as to what part of the case the examination of Mr. McConnell was relevant. Mr. Worthington said he was unable to answer that conundrum, but a great mass of irrelevent testimony was admitted for the protestants, to which objection had been made and overruled.

Mormon Votes.

He said the testimony of Mr. McConnell was in reply to this, and particularly to that of Charles N. Jackson, chairman of the Idaho Democratic committee, who testified that no candidate for office, Democratic or Republican, could stand against the Mormon church.

The witness was asked concerning causes of the Mormon vote being cast for Gooding in his canvass for the governorship, and said he was surprised that any Mormons had voted the Democratic ticket. He gave as one reason that he had challenged Senator Dubois to a public debate, and received an answer declining the invitation on the ground that he could not afford time to debate with any one who was not a candidate for office in the party which was "defending criminals, as he believed the Mormons to be."

He submitted a lithographed reproduction of Senator Dubois' letter.

"Was that letter personal to you?" asked Senator Dubois.

"It was an answer to my challenge. It was not marked personal."

"Well all right—" the senator started to reply and stopped, abruptly dismissing the subject.

Senator McComas objected to political discussions, and when the witness digressed to say that Democrats left their party following the election of President Cleveland, the senator asked the witness to confine himself to the question of whether the Mormons interfered in politics. Mr. McConnell reported a number of reasons why the Democratic party was boycotted by the Mormon church, saying that one of the principal causes was that Senator Dubois called the Mormons criminals.

PRACTICAL QUESTION IS PRESENTED

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SAID TO REGARD MATTER OF FREIGHT RATES AS VITAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt continued today his conferences with members of congress on the subject of tariff revision, and of legislation providing for an increase of the powers of the interstate commerce commission.

One statement which stands out almost with the pre-eminence of an official announcement is that, unless congress, at the present session, should enact legislation looking to a regulation of railroad freight rates, an extraordinary session of the Fifty-ninth congress will be called by the president to deal with that problem.

It can be said that the president regards the interstate commerce question as the paramount issue, now before the American people.

THOMAS CARTER IS HIGH MAN IN MONTANA

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 11.—The first joint ballot for United States senator today resulted in no election. Ninety-five votes were cast, one member being absent, and two paired, making forty-eight the number required to elect. T. H. Carter got within eleven votes of election.

SNOW AND SLEET IN THE CENTRAL STATES

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 11.—A heavy fall of snow, followed by rain and sleet which froze on the ground, delayed the street car service and crippled the trolley lines today. An unknown man was found frozen to death on a door step.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Jan. 11.—The first heavy hail and sleet storm of the winter has been raging in central Illinois since midnight.

JOHN VOORHEES GETS LEASE FROM STATE BOARD TO MINE VALUABLE ROCK.

Special to the Telegraph.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—The state land board this morning granted a lease for the mining of engraving stone on eighty acres of land seventeen and one-half miles southwest of Colorado Springs, on Beaver Creek, to John A. Voorhees, of Colorado Springs. The state is to receive $40 a month rent and 10 cents a ton on all stone mined.

Engraving stone is the most valuable stone in existence. It is said to be found now only in Bavaria. Mr. Voorhees states that it will be necessary to mine 100 tons of ordinary stone in order to get one ton of engraving stone. The value of this stone runs way up into the figures.

MUST BRING B. L. DUKE BEFORE THE COURT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—A writ of habeas corpus directing that Brodie L. Duke, who is now confined in a sanitarium at Flushing, L. I., be brought before him for a review of the case, was issued today by Justice Gaynor in the supreme court in Brooklyn.

The writ was granted on application of an attorney believed to represent Mrs. Alice Webb-Duke, whose marriage to Duke was followed by his incarceration in the sanitarium. The writ is returnable next Friday.

ONE MAN SHOT IN LEG IN GRAND JUNCTION ROW

GRAND JUNCTION, Jan. 11.—F. L. Williams and Carmen Sylvia, a Cuban, employed by Goffman Brothers, became involved in a quarrel, and had a pistol duel. Several shots were exchanged, but only one took effect, Williams being shot through the left leg, shattering the bone, and in all probability amputation will be necessary. Sylvia is in jail and Williams is in the hospital.

NEW PLAN OF LIVE STOCK MEN

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 11.—Not this year will the railroads become members of the National Live Stock association. It is now certain that so much of the reorganization plan of President J. Hagenbarth as relates to the railroads is foredoomed to failure. The remainder of his plan, which involves representation on the board of control of the industries allied to the live stock interests, may be carried. President Hagenbarth declared this morning that he would continue the fight before the convention of next year, if his plan failed to carry this time.

The greatest opposition to the admission of the railroads has so far come from S. H. Cowan, of Fort Worth, Texas, the legal adviser of the association, and Murdo Mackenzie, of Trinidad, Colo. The western cattlemen are practically a unit behind them.

There will be two reports submitted to the convention on the plan of reorganization, the majority being against the plan as far as it applies to the railroads, the minority favoring their admission. The Texas delegates are particularly strong against the admission of the railroads and threatened this morning to withdraw from the association if the railroads are allowed to come in.

The general committee considering the reorganization will not report to the convention until tomorrow morning.

At the morning session of the convention, Vice President H. A. Jastro, of California, presided in the absence of President Hagenbarth. After the transaction of some routine business, Frank Coopers of Kansas City, Mo., was introduced and read a paper on "The commission merchant and his relation to the live stock business."

The stock opened this morning at $1.40 and advanced to $1.43 on sales of 4,300 shares. El Paso has advanced 17 cents in the last two days. Isabella was ¼ cent stronger, selling at 27¾. Old Gold gained ¼, selling at 8⅞. Portland sold at $1.90. 2,000 shares changing hands. Banner Gold advanced to 4¼, a gain of ½. Marquette was ¼ higher, selling at 1⅜. The market was strong. The 140,000 shares sold had a cash value of $16,000.

ENGRAVING STONE

Special to the Telegraph.

VICTOR, Jan. 11.—Three miners employed on the Ajax mine had a narrow escape from being ground to death this morning by the cage becoming defective.

As it was all three were severely injured. The men got on the cage at the eighth level to be lowered to the ninth. Just as the cage started to descend the guide broke and the cage descended 100 feet, throwing the men out into the drift.

W. A. Shoemaker had his left leg fractured, and received an injured knee. Benjamin McCloskey had his left foot crushed and broken, and received other external injuries. J. R. Van Doolah received internal injuries, and had two ribs on the right side broken.

The men were taken to the Red Cross hospital, where they received medical attention.

ASK FOR WRITS

REPUBLICANS IN DENVER WILL GO TO COURT TO GET OFFICES TO WHICH THEY WERE ELECTED.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—Attorney R. J. Bardwell will file application for writs of quo warranto before the supreme court this afternoon against the present Democratic county officers. The court will be asked to take original jurisdiction.

If the supreme court refuses, the attorney will ask Judge Booth M. Malone, of the district court, that the writs bringing the officers into court be issued. The Democratic officials refuse to give up their offices, claiming to hold them under an election held last March.

FIRE IN CRIPPLE CREEK MILLINERY SHOP

Special to the Telegraph.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—Fire, thought to have been of incendiary origin, broke out in the millinery establishment of Mrs. Mary Bowman, at 109 South Second street, at an early hour this morning. The fire spread to the harness shop of W. R. Ardell, next door. The fire will cause a total loss of $6,000. The millinery establishment was insured for $1,500, and the harness shop for $2,000.

SLEIGHING AT GRAND JUNCTION

Special to the Telegraph.

GRAND JUNCTION, Jan. 11.—Grand Junction and the Grand valley were visited by the greatest fall of snow ever recorded in this section of the country in January. The ground on the level is covered to a depth of six inches. Only twice in the past fourteen years has the snowfall been so heavy, and the snow of yesterday is the heaviest in eight years. It is still snowing today. The people of Grand Junction are enjoying the rare pleasure of a sleigh ride, and the cattlemen are rejoicing at the heavy snow, which means good grazing on the ranges next year. The snowfall was also heavy in the Plateau valley.

Special to the Telegraph.

MONTROSE, Jan. 11.—Four inches of snow has fallen in Montrose in the last thirty-six hours. The snowfall was also heavy on the California mesa, ten miles below here.

DIVERSION FOR MINERS WHO WERE INJURED

FOUR ARE FINED FOR CONTEMPT

Supreme Court Punishes Other Election Offenders.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 11.—Four men were adjudged guilty of contempt by the supreme court today for conduct at the polls at the recent election, in violation of the court's orders, and were sentenced to jail.

E. H. Radetsky was given six months, Wm. Ely four months, John Thomas, three months, and Adam Fries, two months.

Fries' sentence was suspended on account of his advanced age.

Two contempt cases and five respondents were finally disposed of in the supreme court this morning. The local machine was given another blow, and the Stuffers' club was given another batch of recruits. There are almost forty members of the club in the red brick, barred-window building, and the number is increasing week by week.

According to the statements of Republican attorneys the trial of the contempt cases has but begun. There are dozens of men in dozens of precincts who have still to learn that the mandates of the supreme court are not to be trifled with, it is said.

The two cases disposed of this morning are those in Ward 4, Precinct 4, and Ward 3, Precinct 19. In the former the respondents were E. H. Radetsky, A. Fries, John Thomas and Joseph Berger. Fries and Thomas were Democratic judges. Berger was a candidate for constable, and Radetsky was an outsider. Officious activity was the charge against Radetsky. While Fries is charged with having overruled some sixty or more challenges when the evidence indicated strongly that persons were registered from 2205 Larimer street, who were not known there, and many of whom were later found to be residents of other precincts.

The charge against Ely, Democratic committeeman in Precinct 19, Ward 3, was that of vote buying. It was alleged that he had been seen to give various persons money and that said persons immediately went to the polling place and cast their ballots. Two other respondents in this case, Frank Montague and William H. Hunter, failed to appear, and neither of them have been found by the officers who have warrants for their arrest. Both were Democratic election judges.

KILLED HIS WIFE AND AN INFANT DAUGHTER

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—With a pistol and razor, John Miller, a cook, killed his wife and infant daughter today, fatally wounded another young daughter and then committed suicide.

Jealously is believed to have been the cause.

MIRSKY NOT YET RESIGNED

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—The Associated Press is in a position to state positively that Emperor Nicholas has not yet accepted Prince Svintopolk-Mirsky's resignation of the ministry of the interior. The minister has informed his majesty of his desire to be relieved of the office because the imperial reform program did not go far enough to meet his views, but the emperor so far has persuaded him to remain in the ministry.

Prince Svintopolk-Mirsky's retirement, soon, however, is regarded as certain, and M. Witte apparently is equally certain of becoming the Bismarck of Russia, despite the fact that he is cordially hated as well as feared at court. Even the emperor seems to shrink from the influence of this strong man, which is accepted as accounting for his reluctance to give up Prince Svintopolk-Mirsky so long as M. Witte stands as the only alternative.

FLINT NAMED FOR SENATOR

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 11.—Frank P. Flint (Rep.) of Los Angeles, was today elected United States senator to succeed Thomas R. Bard, whose term expires March 4, 1905.

As foreshadowed by the vote of 65 for Mr. Flint in the Republican caucus held this morning, he was chosen on the first ballot taken at the first joint session of the senate and house, which convened at noon, receiving the full Republican vote—36 in the senate and 75 in the assembly—a total of 111. The Democratic vote of four in each house was cast for Congressman Theodore A. Bell. One member of the legislature having died since the recent election, and no successor having been chosen, only 60 votes were necessary for a choice.

CREDITORS ARE DEBARRED IN COURT

LONDON, Jan. 11.—A decision today of the King's bench division of the high court of justice debars American creditors from recovering debts from shareholders of British companies doing business in America.

The question rose through a suit of the Bisdon Iron Works company, who sought to recover from Sir Christopher Furness, as a shareholder of the Copper King (Limited), now liquidating, the cost of work supplied to the latter company in California.

The plaintiffs contended that as the Copper King company did business in California, the shareholders were amenable to the California laws, and therefore liable for the company's debts. The court held that the Copper King was an English company, and that the liability of the stockholders was limited to paying in full for their shares.

BLIZZARD IN SOUTH WORST IN YEARS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Jan. 11.—The blizzard that began in Oklahoma continued today, the fall of snow and sleet being the heaviest in years.

Street cars and railroad traffic were interrupted and wires were broken by the weight of the sleet. H. E. Buckles, a surveyor, who had escaped from his home last night while delirious, was found frozen to death.

A YEAR'S FIGHT SEAL STEAMER

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The declaration made by Vice Admiral Doubassoff, the Russian member of the international commission, to inquire into the North Sea incident, in an interview to the effect that an honorable peace between Russia and Japan is likely to be made, is considered highly significant.

The admiral, who is chief of naval construction, says he submitted to Emperor Nicholas last Thursday, a plan to complete the rehabilitation of the navy.

Doubassoff says the emperor gave it most favorable consideration, and said it would be submitted to the council of ministers. "I am convinced," said the admiral, "of the immediate necessity, for the reconstruction of our fleet at all the Russian and foreign ship yards for the purpose of securing strength sufficient to command supremacy at sea. This is absolutely indispensable if we are to expect victory from the next war with Japan. The remnant of our fleet is hardly more than debris, and entirely unequal to Japan's naval strength."

The admiral further said it was necessary to recognize these conditions, however painful they might be to national self love.

"Therefore," he added, "I do not hesitate to say that we tend toward not far-off peace. We will leave the Japanese Port Arthur and the territory they now occupy in Manchuria. We will set ourselves resolutely to work to prepare a powerful invincible navy, as this peace will be but temporary, and the next time we shall be amply prepared."

REPUBLICAN YOUNG MEN OF PUEBLO ELECT OFFICERS

Special to the Telegraph.

PUEBLO, Jan. 11.—The annual meeting of the Young Men's Republican club was held last night, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Sperry F. Packard; secretary, W. E. Buchanan; treasurer, J. E. Campbell; vice presidents, and members of the advisory board: W. P. Haverstock, W. S. Webb, Julius Cramer, J. R. Downey, Omar E. Garwood; sergeant at arms, Ben S. Garrotson. A vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers.

ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK.

Special to the Telegraph.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 11.—A daring attempt was made at 2:30 this morning to rob the Pingree National bank at Morgan, Utah, by three dynamiters, who failed in their attempt because the noise of the explosion aroused the town and frightened the men away.

STARTS A FIGHT ON THE PRIVATE CAR CONCERNS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—The annual meeting of the National League of Commission Merchants began here today. President Charles Bayers in his annual report discussed very vigorously the question of private car lines.

He said:

I have instituted a fight against one of the most unrelenting and unscrupulous monopolies of the age; a corporation that terrorizes the railroads of our land, and even goes so far as to say to the interstate commerce commission, "Keep your hands off, you have no right to interfere, no matter what our transgressions may be; we are a private car line, and will continue to charge the limit we think the public will stand, and if, perchance, you are not satisfied to pay our toll for the privilege of living, you can let your goods rot, as you must do business with us or quit."

This is what the Armour exclusive contracts mean, and the agitation of this matter and the publicity the press of the land has given to the investigation, has startled the country.

EXCITED CROWDS IN STATE BANK

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—There was so great a panic among a crowd of 5,000 persons waiting to withdraw their deposits from the State bank, on Grand street, today, that an emergency detail of police was called out to preserve order. Policemen were stationed five or six feet apart for a distance of blocks from the bank.

Despite this display of force the mob became so excited that they rushed against a heavy iron railing around a light well in front of the bank, and tore it from its fastenings. To prevent the crowds from falling into the well a detail of police forced the crowd back just in time, but in the struggle three policemen were injured.

Two women were also badly injured, but both refused to drop out of line, so anxious were they to secure their deposits. Meantime the bank was paying all who applied. According to Cashier Vernhoe, the State bank has in deposits $19,500,000, representing the savings of five or six thousand persons.

The bank, he said, has about $7,000,000 out on loans, a surplus of $750,000, and a cash reserve of $4,000,000. Everybody would be paid, he said. There was absolutely nothing the matter with the bank.

The trouble began yesterday from a rush of depositors to place their money in the bank. The excitable small depositors of the east side misunderstood the nature of the rush to the bank, and, mistaking it for a run, joined in and began to take out their money.

VETERAN FOOT RACER STARTS ACROSS ACACIA GROUND

Special to the Telegraph.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—If predictions concerning the Acacia prove true, the property is destined to have a greater future than its remarkable past, when the extraction from a favored block aggregated $100,000 and the stock soared above 40 cents a share.

Predictions are based on remarkable mineral conditions in that part of the estate bordering on the Shurtloff claim of the Findley Consolidated company, formerly the Valley City.

From sources regarded as responsible, it is learned that the Shurtloff shoot has been followed right up to the line of the South Burns block of the Acacia, and that the body at that point is not only of more than ordinary quality, but that it is of remarkable width.

In the Shurtloff this shoot has a maximum width of 40 feet. This is at a depth of about 300 feet. Seams are well charged with sylvanite and other gold-bearing material that yields some metal in considerable quantity. In a general way the ore is worth about $40 to the ton.

At the point where the Shurtloff shoot enters the Acacia, it is reported to be nineteen feet in width and to contain the same commercial qualities that characterize it in the Shurtloff. The scene of entrance is variously reported to lie at a depth that ranges from 500 to 750 feet.

A lease that lacks two years of expiration on the South Burns block of the Acacia is held by the Exposition Mines & Leasing company, in which Kenyon & Grant are active. In the course of vertical ventures the lessee sunk to the 260-foot point. This suggests the necessity for continuance to the 500 or the 750-foot depth or to some point where the Shurtloff may be reached. They are not confident that the attainment of such depth will be necessary for, as the way down after exposed, conditions may be found in the shaft, indicating that the top of an important lode has been encountered.

Thus, the Exposition company has faith in a profitable culmination of the exploration it proposes to engage in, is evidenced by its arrangements just concluded, to move the big machinery, plant, including hoist and compressor, that long did service on the Wanderoff block, to the South Burns. So much work does the company expect to engage in that it will retain the plant to use at the South Burns and operate it in connection with the larger plant. Work on the South Burns began today. It is proposed to continue the shaft down with all speed and to find the Shurtloff shoot at whatever depth it lies, if it traverses the property. It is calculated that but a few months of sinking will be necessary, then for the big fortune.

Reports concerning the possibilities of remarkable development in the Acacia have been rife for some time, but owing to the secrecy maintained in certain circles and the optimism of others, these reports have been accepted with hesitation by the speculative. It is understood, however, that Acacia stock is being quietly bought by several prominent brokers. Others are awaiting more conclusive evidence as to the course of the shoot.

HEAVY MACHINERY ORDERED FOR FREE COINAGE SHAFT

Special to the Telegraph.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—To further facilitate and speed sinking in the southwestern section of the Free Coinage company's ground, J. A. O. Carper, the lessee, has arranged for the installation of a six-drill compressor and appurtenant apparatus.

The bottom of the shaft is in the neighborhood of the 100-foot point, lacking 900 feet of the objective. It is of liberal size and when completed will be capable of allowing passage for a large tonnage. Not until considerable depth is attained, perhaps 500 feet, is the ground likely to be exploited horizontally.

Several ore shoots are yielding in the locality, notably the Zenobia, the American Eagles, and the Shurtloff, which suggests important mineralization in this section of the Free Coinage. Whether or not Mr. Carper has designs on any of those bodies or whether he proposes to engage in general exploration has not been made known.

In addition to the compressor and machine drills the lessee proposes to install a hoisting plant of formidable power, but is not likely to invest in this apparatus for some time. When the equipment is completed it will rank with some of the foremost plants of the locality.

Shipments are being made from other parts of the Free Coinage, upon which Mr. Carper has a bond and lease, notably the Pueblo. In the latter he is breaking two-ounce ore from a body of liberal dimensions.

KEYSTONE DIVIDEND SOON TO BE VOTED ON

Special to the Telegraph.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—There is prospect that a dividend will be paid by the Keystone Oil company, of Florence, within a short time, there being sufficient money in the treasury to make a disbursement of one-half cent per share on the outstanding stock, aggregating about 2,000,000 shares. This payment can be made without exhausting the treasury. About 210 barrels daily is leaving the Keystone wells, while royalty is being received on the production of lessees.

Drilling will be resumed by the Victor Oil, Gas & Coal company about March 1. Six wells have been sunk by the Victor company, and while not all were dusters the volume of oil was insufficient to afford a profit in pumping. That oil will be developed and in good volume within the bounds of the Victor, which are liberal, is suggested by the company that it keeps. On the west is the Griffith tract with a 250-barrel output, on the north the Keystone with 210 barrels, on the south the Hiawatha with a 75-barrel hole, while on the east are the producers of the Florence Oil company.

A large part of the stock in the Keystone and the Victor companies is held at Colorado Springs, Victor and Cripple Creek, while most of the remainder is owned by residents of Florence and the east.

FRENCH MISSION DEPARTS FOR FEZ

TANGIER, Morocco, Jan. 11.—Members of the French diplomatic mission to Fez will embark today on a [illegible] for Larache. The Moorish government is taking the necessary precautions to safeguard the overland road which is to be followed by the mission.

A special detachment of native cavalry is awaiting the mission at Larache, and a supplementary escort of 100 horsemen will join them at a point half way between Larache and Fez.

Reports from Fez are to the effect that, by the express desire of the sultan, the French minister will be accorded a cordial and elaborate reception.

FOR PRINCE'S WEDDING GIFT

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—The joint wedding gift of 900 cities of Prussia to the Crown Prince Frederick William and the Duchess Cecilia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, on the occasion of their approaching marriage, to which invitations to contribute were sent out by a committee of mayors recently, will represent about 1 cent apiece from each Prussian city dweller.

The present will be a silver table service for fifty persons. It will consist of more than a thousand pieces of original designs, costing $125,000, or $25,000 more than a similar gift to the imperial pair in 1881.

[illegible] VERSUS ELIAS

Aged New York Millionaire Sues Negress for His Money.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The final stage in the struggle for the possession of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars between John R. Platt, an aged millionaire, and Hannah Elias, a negress, who he charges, wrongfully obtained money from him, was scheduled to begin before Justice Bischoff in the supreme court today.

In this suit it was expected that the whole amazing story of the affair which attracted the attention of the entire country when the secret of Platt's relations with the women were revealed by the filing of his suit last summer would be brought out.

Interest in the case was intensified from the first by the strange and tragic death of Andrew H. Green, one of the city's most prominent men, who was shot to death almost at the door of the Elias woman's home on Central Park West a few months before the Platt suit was filed. Green's murderer, a negro, who was captured, and later sent to an insane asylum, said that he had shot Mr. Green because he was jealous of the latter's attentions to Mrs. Elias.

With the filing of the Platt suit, the contention of Mr. Green's friends that he was a victim of mistaken identity when the fatal attack was made, was practically proven. There was a remarkable similarity in personal appearance between Andrew H. Green and John R. Platt, and Mr. Platt himself has said that he believes the insane negro intended to kill him, and mistook Mr. Green for him.

Mrs. Elias maintains that the vast sum named in Platt's suit was given to her voluntarily by Platt that he literally threw money at her.

She has told of one instance when, she says, after pressing her to take a large sum which she refused, he threw a great handful of bank notes on the floor, and she had a servant gather them up on a dustpan. On the other hand Platt asserts that the defendant resorted to every trick and device her ingenuity could command to extort money from him during the twenty years of their acquaintance.

Mr. Platt is now 87 years old, and very feeble.

JUDGES BALLOTS AS NAVSEAS

PRETTY TEACHERS BOLT AND DECLARE THEY WILL DEMAND A NEW ELECTION AND A SQUARE DEAL.

YORK, Pa., Jan. 11.—We just won't serve under those superintendents. Their friends stuffed the ballot box and in a Sunday school election, too."

Pretty Vassar graduates for girls and young religious idea how to shoot thus denounce an election of officers conducted recently by the Sunday school of the Church of God at Andersontown, a staid suburb, hitherto unsuspected of wild Salteresque.

These protestants go farther. They will call a new election.

They declare that after the vote for two superintendents had ended in a tie a plot was hatched with its object the debasement of the ballot. The next vote, resulting in victory for Harry Trout and Harry Bigler, showed more votes than there were voters.

There was almost a row. Great accumulations of speech were released. Twenty voters bolted in a body. Among them were the young women who will demand a new election and "a square deal."

PRICE OF DIAMONDS

One Firm's Act Results in World-Wide Price Increase of Five Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Own a diamond? Get into the sunlight with it and note what a magical change has come over its luster. It gleams deeper and richer than it did the day before yesterday; its sparkle carries farther. Something in the atmosphere of the new year has put a strange fire into its glow.

Fact is, your diamond is worth 5 per cent more than it was a few days ago. This on the word of one firm of diamond merchants.

The DeBeers company, largest selling agent of "sparklers," has issued a new price list that adds $50,000,000 to the value of the world's supply of diamonds. Last Monday the total value of these gems was $1,000,000,000. Today it is $1,050,000,000.—Your modest little $200 stone has won $10 for you while you slept. Keep it. More and greater winnings will follow. The world's supply of diamonds is diminishing, as compared with demand.

Prices, experts say, have just begun to soar.

BOOKER WASHINGTON

Prominent Southerners Fraternize With the Negro Educator—A Good Traveling Companion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Prominent men from the south, delegated by the citizens of Birmingham, Ala., and Knoxville, Tenn., to extend to President Roosevelt a cordial invitation to include those cities in his contemplated southern tour, fraternized on the trip to Washington with every evidence of mutual regard and enjoyment, with Booker T. Washington and Bishop Barnett.

After the visit to the White house today a member of the delegation, who is one of the most influential Democrats in the south and takes an active part in public affairs, declared, in describing the journey to a Tribune Bureau representative, that "Booker T. Washington is unquestionably the greatest man of his race in the world," and that he and Bishop Barnett made delightful traveling companions.

"Our delegation," he continued, "started out from Birmingham and fortunately picked up the Knoxville crowd on the way. We had separate Pullmans, with a common dining car. On the same train were Booker T. Washington and Bishop Barnett, who were on their way to New York, and it was not long before we were all congratulating ourselves that we had chosen the same line. We had a good time. There was an entire absence of any feeling, real or imaginary, over the fact that we were dining with Booker T. Washington and his colored associate. They were with us before, during and after our meals, and we enjoyed their company. The train was our home for a much longer time than we anticipated, being twenty-four hours late in arriving here, but we visited back and forth from car to car, made the best of our common trouble, and all got to be good friends.

"Funny, wasn't it," he concluded, "that we were dining with the man for whose entertainment the president we have just invited to our southern homes was so severely criticised?"

VERDECKBERG

Named by Governor Peabody for Brigadier General of National Guard—Adams Revokes Order.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—One of the last official acts of Gov. Peabody was the nomination of Col. Edward Verdeckberg to be brigadier general of the National Guard of Colorado. Col. Verdeckberg on Monday went before a notary public and took the oath of office.

He succeeds General Chase, whose commission expired on Jan. 1, 1904, over a year ago. Gov. Peabody did not fill the vacancy until Monday, owing to the fact that there were several names under consideration.

Gen. Chase, Majors A. H. Williams and George M. Lee of his staff were notified by registered letter that their terms of office had expired before Gen. Verdeckberg was sworn in.

One of the first official acts of Governor Alvin Adams was to revoke the order appointing Colonel Verdeckberg to be brigadier general, and reinstating General John Chase, Major A. H. Williams and Major George M. Lee to their former commands.

ABOUT 35,000 MINERS ARE OUT IN GEAMAN STRIKE

COLOGNE, Germany, Jan. 11.—The strike of coal miners has spread. Part or all of the diggers in seventeen additional mines did not go to work today. The number idle is about 35,000 or one-eighth of the total.

Divisions exist among the miners, some disapproving of a strike and refusing to quit work, so that the proprietors of some of the striking mines continue to work on part time.

An enterprise in Algeria is to manufacture natural soap on a large scale from a tree known as "Sapindus utilis." This plant, which has long been known in Japan, China and India, bears a fruit of about the size of a horse-chestnut, smooth and round. The color varies from a yellowish green to brown. The inner nut is of a dark color and has an oily kernel. The tree bears fruit in its sixth year and yields from 55 to 220 pounds of fruit, which can easily be harvested.

JUVENILE COURTS.

Boston Paper Compares Defective Massachusetts Methods With Those in Vogue in Colorado.

The advantages of the juvenile court are so obvious that little argument is needed to show the desirability of this institution. In the first place it removes the children from the hardening influence of contact with adult criminals. The effect of ordinary court experience upon a young boy is degrading. If he is tried in the same court with older offenders the result is to breed juvenile criminality. A separate juvenile court, combined with the probation system, brings to bear on young offenders influences that make for reformation and character-building. In the second place the juvenile court enables the judge dealing with this single class of cases to become a specialist. He comes into close personal touch with boys and acquires an expert knowledge of ways and means of juvenile reformation. If he has the right personality he may make himself the guide, philosopher and friend of the street urchins, and may wield incalculable influence for good. The work of Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the Denver juvenile court shows the splendid possibilities in this field. In the third place, the probationary method can be employed more extensively and more effectively through the juvenile court. It is clear that this system, which is peculiarly suited to juvenile cases, can be made more efficient when administered by special probation officers chosen for their fitness for managing boys. This improvement of the probationary method is not the least of the benefits of the juvenile court.

The present system of dealing with juvenile cases in the Boston municipal court is very backward as compared with the advanced methods of Denver, Chicago, New York, and other cities. In Boston there is merely a separate session for juvenile offenders and another for truants and neglected children. There is no separate place of detention for juvenile offenders; there are no special probation officers for them. The juvenile session is held moreover, at the close of the regular sitting of the court, and the judge, wearied by a long docket of miscellaneous cases, is not likely to give the close personal attention to the juvenile offenders which the latter peculiarly require. A recent visitor to the juvenile session states that he was particularly struck by the absence of interest on the part of the judge, and by the fact that every child was sent away with no proper word of advice and encouragement, but ordinarily in a don't care frame of mind and with an angry father when a fine was collected. "In the majority of cases," says this observer, "there is no bond of sympathy between the judge and the delinquent, no effort at reformation and character-building, but a condition that must, to a partial degree, lead to further delinquencies and lack of reformation."

The juvenile court of Denver furnishes a model of what such an institution should be. The chief features of the Denver system are: A court with one judge and a separate place of meeting; a separate place of detention; special probation officers for children, and measures for enforcing the responsibility of parents for juvenile delinquencies. A committee on juvenile delinquents of the Massachusetts Civic league and other societies is now investigating the subject of children's courts, and will probably, in the near future, report the outline of a plan for Boston. It ought not to be difficult to secure the adoption of the main features of that plan when attention has been called to the inadequacy of the existing system and the advantages of the separate court. Boston should speedily put itself abreast of other cities in this important branch of social reform. The juvenile court is not a sentimental fad, but a commonsense method of dealing with the difficult problem of juvenile delinquency. It has proved its utility in other cities, and should be incorporated at the earliest possible moment into the judicial system of this Commonwealth.—Boston Transcript.

A YEAR BOOK AND GUIDE.

You frequently hear mention of dead languages. Well, some facts are even deader, but these are not the kind that The Tribune Almanac deals in. By way of verifying that, just take a cursory glance over the issue for 1905, which is now on sale. It is not an Almanac in the dictionary sense of the work, but is really a ready reference and guide-book containing everything that such a compilation ought to have. And the material has been garnered and sifted and tested with the utmost care so as to secure absolute accuracy, or at least get as near to it as honest, painstaking endeavor will bring one.

Herein will be found a perfect gold mine of information on topics of interest, not only to every American, but likewise to all who care to know about us, our laws, populations, officials, and so forth. (And, by the way, if you have any friends in Europe, just send them a copy and see if they don't appreciate it.)

There isn't anything missing in the way of records which the average man will want to know about. It doesn't matter what the subject—pension legislation, sporting statistics, facts about universities, colleges, patriotic societies, population, public officials, to say nothing of a condensed guide of New York City, a map of the underground railroad system, showing the location of stations, and a table telling railroad distances, fares, etc.

In fact, it is really not an exaggeration to say that of a hundred and one things a sane person wants to know, at least ninety-nine will be found in The Tribune Almanac.

ADDRESSING PARLIAMENT.

"It is well not to speak too soon. Randolph Churchill only opened his mouth once during the first session, and that was to ask a question. John Morley sat watching and listening for months before he ventured to catch the speaker's eye, and his first performance was by no means successful. We all know the story of Disraeli's early collapse and a noble flask became famous. I related by Lord North's son Frederick. 'I once attempted to speak in parliament. I brought out two or three sentences, when a mist seemed to rise before my eyes. I then lost my recollection and could see nothing but the speaker's wig, which swelled and swelled till it covered the whole house. I then sank back in my seat and never tried to speak again, and immediately applied for the Chiltern Hundreds, feeling convinced that parliament was my not vocation.'

Physiologists have never attempted to explain why people who are loquacious, and even garrulous, as long as they maintain the sweet security of a seat, halt and stutter, and perhaps break down hopelessly, when they mount the speaker's table. Every one of us must some time or other have suffered from one of these sudden lapses in memory. Lord Rosebery had long ago lost his place in the middle of a speech. Lowe's hopeless collapse in the house of commons is still painfully remembered, and poor Black Rod, on his first appearance, clean forgot the message from the Lords; not even Campbell-Bannerman's promptings restored his memory, and the speaker was obliged to say that he understood that a message was being brought to ask the attendance of the lower house in the Lords. And even Jupiter has nodded. Mr. Gladstone himself once lost his cue and stopped abruptly when Disraeli bent forward and said: "The right honorable gentleman's last word was 'so-and-so.'"—Longman's Magazine.

A peculiar accident happened recently at a bull fight in Bordeaux. The matador stabbed the bull with a sword that did not penetrate, whereupon the infuriated animal tossed the weapon in the air and attacked a toreador. The sword fell among the spectators, injuring Candido Calderon, an officer in the Spanish navy, who was present as a guest of the Bordeaux organizers of the spectacle. The wound was serious and the seaman had to be carried off to the hospital. After this the toreadors became exasperated and Tedro de Haro, jumping on the benches and steps into the ring, attacked the bull with his sword, and, knowing nothing about bull-fighting, succeeded in killing the animal at the first stroke.

J. W. SHEAFOR IS APPOINTED ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY

John W. Sheafor, city attorney of Colorado Springs, has been named as assistant district attorney of the fourth judicial district by Judge T. J. Block.

The [illegible] made by Judge Block in the appointment of Mr. Sheafor is a popular one and will be ratified by the city council at its next meeting. The salary attached to the position is $1,500 per annum, payable in monthly installments.

Mr. Sheafor will take up the duties of his new position as soon as he could qualify, and that he would furnish his bond of $5,000 this morning. This bond has to be filed with the secretary of state, and the formality of filing it will delay the appointment from going into effect a few hours.

Mr. Sheafor will not resign his present position at once but will do so as soon as he can get the affairs of that office into shape to be transferred to his successor.

"I knew that my name was being considered by Mr. Hamlin," said Mr. Sheafor, "but I was not aware of my appointment until this afternoon and it took me somewhat by surprise. Not knowing that I was to be appointed, I have not had any chance to get my present office in shape for a change but it will take but a few days."

Mr. Sheafor has been city attorney for nearly four years. He was formerly associated with Judge J. W. Adv, and was Republican candidate for district attorney six years ago. He is local counsel for the Rock Island and has tried some important cases in local and state courts. He is well versed in law, a close student and a hard worker and his manner of delivery always impresses a jury.

No names have been mentioned in connection with the city attorneyship to succeed Mr. Sheafor as the news of the appointment was not known to the aldermen last evening.

The position of assistant district attorney is more important than that of deputy as it invests the incumbent with all the powers of the district attorney and permits him to travel all over the district.

EL PASO CLUB ANNUAL BALL

ELABORATE ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE FOR THE CLIMAX OF THE WINTER SOCIAL SEASON.

The El Paso club ball, the most elaborate social event of the entire season, will occur in the handsome club home tomorrow night. Invitations for this highly anticipated function, of which there are several hundred, are much sought by the society people, not only of the city, but of the entire state. Through the secretary, George Rex Buckman, the organization has extended a special invitation to the members of the Denver club. Several have sent acceptances and the ball will doubtless be one of the most brilliant in its history.

William Henry Evans, chairman; F. M. P. Taylor, F. W. Stehr, J. A. Connell and J. S. Tucker, the committee named by the president, Sherwood Aldrich, to perfect all arrangements, have engaged Irvine's orchestra, which in past years has rendered delightful music for the dancing.

The floral decorations will be massive palms and other tropical plants in addition to quantities of cut flowers. During intermission, one of the elaborate course suppers for which the club is famous will be served in the dining rooms.

The electric lights will be veiled in colors calculated to enhance the beauty of the scene. Many elegant gowns have been especially ordered for this occasion and the display of rare jewels and laces will be a marvel to anyone unfamiliar with Colorado Springs society functions.

Thomas McLaren has designed the artistic large fusel pleasures which will be placed on the walls for reference in lieu of small individual programs.

The wives of the trustees of the club have been invited to receive: Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich, Mrs. Clarence C. Hamlin, Mrs. Henry McAllister, Jr., Mrs. Kurnal B. Babbitt, Mrs. S. Lewin Solly, Mrs. John Speed Tucker, Mrs. J. Arthur Connell, Mrs. Winfield S. Boynton, Mrs. A. Sutton.

REYNOLDS ARRESTED

CHIEF OF POLICE THINKS HE HAS LOCATED THE ALLEGED MURDERER OF THE MT. CUTLER VICTIM.

Chief of Police W. S. Reynolds is in Detroit looking for the murderer of Mrs. Bessie Bouton, the Cutler mountain victim.

After a woeful ignorance of over a week in regard to the whereabouts of their chief, the local police officers last night succeeded that Chief Reynolds is out tracing up Franklin, who is said to be going under the alias of George Conklin. The members of the force stated yesterday that they had no idea where Chief Reynolds is at the present time but they conceded that he is after the Cutler mountain murderer and are of the opinion that he will bring his man back with him.

Chief Reynolds, it has developed, first got track of his man in Denver where a mysterious stranger it was reported, tried to dispose of some diamonds over a month ago. From Denver he followed the clue and, it is hoped, has caged his man in Michigan.

The following Associated Press dispatch from Detroit tells of his presence in that city:

DETROIT, Jan. 11.—The murderer of Mrs. Bessie Bouton, the Syracuse, N. Y., woman whose body was found near Colorado Springs, Colo., December 17, is believed to be in Detroit and Chief of Police Reynolds of Colorado Springs is now in this city searching for him. Chief Reynolds traced George Conklin, who is wanted in connection with the case, from Denver to Chicago, thence to Battle Creek and Jackson, Mich., where it is said Conklin tried to dispose of some valuable jewelry. Conklin had left Jackson when the chief arrived there and it is thought he came to Detroit or Mount Clemens. Both cities are being searched.

PRESENTED WITH GOLD MEDAL

A. P. MARTEN, RETIRING CONSUL OF M. W. A., RECIPIENT OF GOLD MEDAL AT INSTALLATION CEREMONIES.

Colorado Springs camp No. 7226, Modern Woodmen of America, installed officers for the year in Red Men's hall last night. The retiring consul, A. P. Marten, who conducted the ceremonies, was presented with a gold medal by the camp in recognition of his untiring work for the advancement of the order. The presentation was made by the committee of arrangements, consisting of C. M. Ffior, chairman; H. C. Henderson and O. E. Westcott. The chairman made the presentation speech.

The following officers were installed: Consul, J. F. Sanford; advisers, F. R. Judd; banker, E. H. Miller; clerk, R. K. Harrison; escort, H. B. Whitesell; watchman, D. B. Hampshire; sentry, W. E. Guiffe; managers, John Jacks, W. F. Clow and O. H. Hill; physicians, R. B. Grover, J. T. Muir, W. H. Kendrick, E. H. Huestis, J. B. Nifong, F. L. Estill and O. I. Gillett.

A large audience was present and enjoyed the musical program, which was followed by drills by the Colorado City and the Colorado Springs teams. Refreshments were served.

4 SECRETS OF VETERANS SUCCESS

BOB TAYLOR TELLS STRANGE STORY OF HOW HE WAS GENTLY BURNED WHILE IN DRUNKEN STUPOR.

Bob Taylor, a well known character of Colorado City, is carrying with him some blood burns on his arms, breast and hands, which he says he received from a shovelful of live coals, which someone threw at him.

Taylor told his story in a dazed way yesterday and was perfectly sober while talking. He says he recollects being in a drunken stupor Wednesday night and that during the stupor he got into a quarrel with some one whom he cannot recall, and that in the quarrel the unknown man threw a shovelful of live coals squarely into his breast, causing the burns.

Taylor's injuries were dressed yesterday by City Physician C. S. Morris. Whether his story is true or not, Taylor's injuries are painfully true, and will take a long time to heal.

Taylor was the companion of Jack Jones, the man who dropped dead on the Midland depot platform Sunday morning.—Taylor says he stole a bottle of wood alcohol from a shed in the "red light" district and, after taking a drink, gave a drink to Jones, who died from the effects. He claims to be able to drink wood alcohol like water, and states that once in Victor he and three others drank some, and he was the only one who lived. At that time he refused to let the doctors pump the poison out of his stomach.

VOTE AGAINST SALE'S BILL

ANNUAL SOCIAL EVENT OF HIGH SCHOOL WILL BE DISCONTINUED.—FRANK SMITH ELECTED MAJOR.

The cadet ball is a thing of the past. At a meeting of the High school cadet battalion yesterday afternoon, the matter of continuing the custom and giving the annual ball this spring was brought up and defeated by a vote of 24 to 23. The cadet balls have been given annually under the auspices of the cadet corps for the last ten years and have been the biggest social event among the younger set. There has been opposition to them every year but this is the first year that it has been strong enough to prevail. They are discontinued for financial and other reasons.

Lieutenant Frank Smith of company A was yesterday elected major of the battalion to succeed Major Marion Kirkwood, resigned. Major Smith has made an efficient officer and his choice is a good one. Adjutant Lyle Gale was strongly supported by his friends. Captain Leon Fairley of company A has left school and nominations were yesterday opened for position and also for those of the lieutenants of the company.

IN GOD'S ACRE

A. F. Eastman, Civil War Veteran, Found Dead in Bed.—Funeral of C. Fleming This Afternoon.

A. F. Eastman, of 921 South Cora street, was found dead in bed yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Mr. Eastman was a veteran of the civil war, and has been a resident of Colorado Springs for several years. Funeral arrangements will not be made until word is recely from a brother of the deceased, who lives at Pitkin, Gunnison county.

The funeral of James C. Fleming, who died at 1436 North Weber street Tuesday night, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. The services will be conducted by the Rev. C. Wallace, and friends of the family are invited.

The funeral of H. L. Davidson, who died at his home, 22 West Buena Ventura street, Tuesday afternoon, will not be held until the arrival of his father, who is on his way to Colorado Springs from Maryland.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNIONS RESPOND LIBERALLY FOR CUMMINGS MEMORIAL LIBRARY. CHICAGO GIVES $1,500.

The Cummings memorial [illegible] which has been [illegible] the work of raising the remainder of the fund to erect the addition to the Union Printers' home in this city. All the members have received their literature and have sent it out to the unions of their various districts. Already, too, the agitation has borne fruit. The Chicago union has donated $1,500 more than its quota; Des Moines, Iowa, has doubled its amount, and a number of other unions have informed the committee that they have acted favorably on the proposition. It is believed that the January meetings of the various unions will practically make the proposition unanimous. A number of unions report that they will increase the amounts required.

The matter is being thoroughly agitated among the union printers of the country, and for the better handling of the affair the entire jurisdiction has been divided among the eleven committeemen, each member sending out literature and being responsible for all the unions in his territory. Harvey E. Garman, of Denver, secretary of the committee, is in charge of the district including Colorado. In the January issue of the Typographical Journal he states that the outlook so far is very flattering.

Since November 21, 1904, the contributions for Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, D. C., Des Moines, Manchester, Shreveport, Pueblo and Lincoln, have amounted to $1,774.35. The expenditures for the month amounted to $228.99, leaving a balance in the fund of $9,438.24. J. W. Bramwood, secretary treasurer of Indianapolis, Ind., is custodian of the fund.

John A. Voorhees, former treasurer, has been granted a lease by the state on eighty acres of land situated on Beaver Creek, seventeen and one-half miles southwest of Colorado Springs, for the mining of engraving stone. The state will receive $40 a month as rent and ten cents a ton royalty on all stone mined. Engraving stone is the most valuable stone known as it is found in quantity only in Bavaria. Mr. Voorhees says that in order to get one ton of the valuable stone it will be necessary to mine 100 tons of waste.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of Social Science Department Enjoyed Two Able Addresses Yesterday Afternoon.

The severely cold weather accounted for the unusually small audience present yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the social science department of the Woman's club held in Caledonian hall. Mrs. W. A. Gray, the chairman, introduced as the first speaker, Charles A. Perkins, of Manitou, who gave a most instructive address on "Fundamental Maxims in Law." Mr. Perkins' remarks were very much appreciated as was demonstrated by the many complimentary remarks heard concerning them.

The latter portion of the afternoon, Dr. Margaret H. Beeler spoke on "War and International Arbitration." The subject was ably handled, reasons being given for the justifiable war such as protection of rights of gaining the independence of a country; and unjustifiable war in desire to gain more territory, etc.

Dr. Beeler quoted largely from Tolstoi, the subject of war being one upon which he has written voluminously. She devoted considerable time to the peace movement and the famous world conferences, showing that governments are yielding to the general desire for the abolishment of war and the substitution of arbitration.

Previous to adjournment Mrs. Kerr extended a special invitation to the members of the club to attend the lecture of Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, which is to be delivered tomorrow evening in the High School auditorium under the auspices of the Schoolmaster's club.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The three days' conference between members of the boys' departments of the Denver, Pueblo and Colorado Springs associations, which has been planned for January 27, 28 and 29, is now assured. Plans for united work will be discussed and inter-association athletic events pulled off in the gymnasium.

The annual banquet for the members of the association will be held tomorrow evening in the boys' parlors. Mrs. E. E. Baty, of the Mothers' auxiliary, has charge of the affair.

A stamp club will be organized this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the boys' department. F. H. Dunnington will have charge of the club.

The Electrical club of the boys' department resumed its work last night.

WORK OVER SALTS

Lease on the Gold Sovereign Mine Expires on February 1.

A BIG PROPOSITION

LESSEES WANT TO MAKE BEST OF THEIR LIMITED TIME AND WILL INCREASE THE SHIPMENTS.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—An ore shoot which has proven to be continuous from the surface to the bottom level has been encountered in the bottom level of the Gold Sovereign workings on Beacon hill. The face of the ore shoot measuring eight feet in width. The entire ore shoot broken down together will return values of $50 to the ton. While this body of ore has been worked for over 600 feet and has proven a big proposition both to the Cripple Creek Gold Temple Leasing company as well as to the Gold Sovereign company, yet the ore has now been proven to continue further with depth and there is no telling how much deeper it can be worked.

This property now under lease to the Cripple Creek Gold Temple company reverts to the company February 1, so the lessees are pushing the work of taking out ore at a terrific rate employing three shifts of men and hoisting practically nothing but ore from the workings, as they are doing their best to get out every pound of rock that is possible before their lease expires. By a clause in their lease the lessees are allowed ten days after February 1 in which to keep up their workings so it is positive that they will break ore up until midnight of January 31.

The leasing company have been sending out from three to five carloads of ore of late and expect to increase this a little bit from now till February 10.

It will be remembered that the treasurer's report of the Gold Sovereign company that was published in these columns a few days ago showed that the net profits of the company amounted to approximately $25,000 as a total of 6,555 tons had been shipped during the year that had a gross value of $153,103.00 of which the net returns from the whole amount were nearly $101,000. This splendid report was largely due to the work accomplished by the Cripple Creek Gold Temple Leasing company whose profits during the past year amounted to $75,000.

NEW LEASE ON BEACON HILL

LEASING COMPANY OPERATING THIS BEACON HILL PROPERTY WILL GO 100 FEET DEEPER. WILL RUN LATERAL.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The Milwaukee Mutual Leasing company which has been operating under lease the Mabel M property belonging to the Gold Dollar Consolidated company, located on Beacon hill, expects to commence sinking a new lift of 100 feet about January 15, which will give the shaft a depth of 635 feet, making it the deepest workings on the southeast slope of the hill.

When sinking is completed a lateral will be run for considerable distance in order to get at the ore that has proven so profitable to the lessee in the 530-foot level.

LEXINGTON

Two Leases Through the Main Workings on Gold Hill Granted to Men Who Will Push Work.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The Lexington company has granted two leases through their main workings on Gold hill, one to Magner and associates, the other to Gardner and others. Both operators have commenced to push work and both are confident that they will be sending out regular shipments in a very short time.

RED SPRUCE COMPANY HOLDS MEETING TODAY.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The deferred annual meeting of the Red Spruce Gold Mining company will be held in the company's office in the Doyle block in Victor at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at which time matters pertaining to the welfare of the company will come up and the election of a board of directors to serve for the ensuing year will take place.

NEW FINDLEY CO. MAKES A STRIKE

Miners Open Large and Rich Vein at the 800-foot Depth.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—Miners working on the Findley property on Bull hill have opened up a parallel vein with the main Findley vein some 8 feet east which is an average 7 feet in shoot to the mine.

The new vein of ore was encountered at a depth of 80 feet and while it has only been proven up for a distance of 15 feet yet the management is satisfied that it will extend to surface, giving them a body of ore 7 feet in length which adds greatly to the already large ore reserves of this property.

At the point in the 800-foot level where the vein has been encountered, the breast now measures from 2½ to 3 feet in width all of which will average $40 to the ton and situated as the ore shoot is it will be accessible from every level of the mine with very little expense of reaching it makes it all the more important to the company.

The ore shoot extends largely into the Shurtleff ground which property was recently consolidated with the Findley, and it is possible that this was partly known when the consolidation was made and it only goes to prove that the new Findley Consolidated company is one of the greatest little companies in the district.

SPRAGUE BIG TUNNEL

H. M. SPRAGUE PLACES MACHINERY ON GROUSE MOUNTAIN TO DEVELOP HIS PROPERTY SYSTEMATICALLY.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—H. M. Sprague who owns quite a large acreage on Grouse mountain is now pushing the work of driving a large tunnel which is expected to open up some good looking veins which are known to exist in this hill at a depth of 500 feet and better.

Mr. Sprague, after first locating the veins near surface, from which he received satisfactory returns, was sufficiently encouraged to commence this large amount of work and is now equipped with all necessary machinery, a good road to the property, and he will develop the hill in a systematic manner. He is confident of opening up a shipper in the near future.

THE BORN-HEALY CASE.

IT SEEMS to be settled—as nearly as any contemplated act of a legislature can be settled before it is attempted—that the Senate will unseat Senator Born of Alamosa, representing the Fourteenth district, and place in his stead Senator James E. Dick of Walsenburg, the legally elected Republican, who, though he has not been permitted to occupy the office, still holds his certificate of election. Senator Healy of Leadville, who represents the Sixth district and who was placed in office at the same time and by the same tactics as Born, will be allowed to retain his seat because Senator McDonald, his legally elected rival, is now Lieutenant-Governor and as such will be President of the Senate for the next two years. It is alleged that if Healy were unseated the Leadville district would be deprived of representation.

There is not a particle of doubt of the propriety of the contemplated unseating of Born; the only criticism that can be made of the Senate in the matter is that it will not unseat Healy also. Both men hold office as the result of one of the most outrageous proceedings ever attempted in a legislative body. Two years ago the Democrats in the Senate, though in the majority, lacked two votes of the fifty-one necessary to elect Henry M. Teller to the United States Senate. Accordingly they determined to throw out two Republican members and Dick and McDonald were selected as the victims. There was no question of their election, but the Democrats trumped up one. Then, without opening a ballot box, examining a single witness or taking a particle of testimony of any kind, they threw out the two Republican Senators and gave their seats to their defeated Democratic rivals, Born and Healy. The outrage may be better appreciated when it is known that Senator Dick's majority over Born was 3,005, while Senator McDonald had a majority over Healy of 423.

Both Senators Dick and McDonald had received their certificates of election and both still hold them. Now that there is a Republican majority the unseating of the usurpers and placing of the legally elected officials in their stead would be an easy matter, and it should be done without delay. If it answered no other purpose it would serve as a rebuke to the Democratic election thieves who do not hesitate to steal a legislature after it is in session any more than they do to steal a precinct or a ward. It would show the people that in at least one case the Democrats were not able to keep the stolen goods permanently.

THE EARLY SNOWFALL.

THE early snowfall bulletin issued by the weather bureau at Denver says that while the snowfall over the upper drainage areas of Colorado has been lighter than normal this winter, the reports for the period ending December 31, show somewhat better conditions as regards water supply than prevailed at the corresponding date last year. In localities on each watershed, embracing in all about one-third of the mountain region, the snowfall has been normal or above normal, as against practically no reports a year ago showing as much as normal.

This improvement is most pronounced in the southwestern part of the state, but in nearly all districts the rainfall of late summer and early fall replenished the supply of ground water so that springs are now flowing freely and the water is immediately turned to ice. The result is the formation of a number of ice fields which will remain until after the late snows have melted, and will add considerably to the supply of late irrigation water.

The amount of the early snowfall in the mountains is a very important matter in considering the irrigation water supply for the coming season, because on it depends the amount of water that will be available for late irrigation use. It is a fact well known that the early snows pack in the gulches and ravines of the mountains and remain there often until midsummer or early autumn, while the late snows usually melt soon after they fall. It is the late snows that furnish water for the spring floods, and by far the greater part of this is wasted. It flows down to the rivers at a time when irrigation water is not needed, and so far from being a benefit, often causes heavy damage.

The formation of large quantities of ice by the normal flow of springs during severely cold weather is similarly beneficial to the irrigation supply. Naturally the spring water flows into gulches and the ice thus formed does not melt until late in the summer. Such conditions are highly favorable to the irrigation system, and if they continue through January and February there will be no shortage of water in the farming and grazing districts of Colorado next summer and fall.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

EVERY resident of Colorado Springs who read the annual report of Secretary Wray of the Chamber of Commerce and any resident who has not read it should immediately do so—ought to feel thankful that this city has such an active, efficient organization working for its advancement. The Chamber of Commerce is not the only body in Colorado Springs conducted for the advancement of the city's interests, but it is the oldest one and it occupies a field peculiar to itself, so it is no disparagement to the others to say that it is the most useful organization of the kind in the city.

It is only natural that the credit for this fact should belong largely to Secretary Wray, for without an efficient secretary to direct its affairs no concern of the kind could be successful, and the mere fact of its success argues careful and capable management. It is a difficult and trying position, demanding great energy and resourcefulness and no little tact. In the two years of his incumbency Mr. Wray has discharged the duties with high credit to himself and the organization he represents.

To enumerate the good works accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce in the last year would be to reprint the whole report. One of the most important, however, was that done through advertising in medical journals and the distribution of health resort pamphlets. In 1903 it was planned to raise, if possible, a fund of $10,000 for this special work, but only $1,500 was secured. Less than one-half of this was expended in 1904 and the results attained were extremely valuable. Full page advertisements were inserted in three medical journals of wide circulation and 3,000 copies of a pamphlet entitled "The Rockies as a Winter Residence" were distributed by the railroads and sent to individual inquirers. The high value of this sort of advertising has been proven and sufficient funds should be provided for its continuance in the present year.

But the work of greatest importance to Colorado Springs is the securing of winter rates on the transcontinental railroads. For years the Chamber of Commerce, in common with other similar organizations in the state, have endeavored to get winter rate concessions from the railroads, but hitherto in vain. Now the round trip rate from Chicago to Colorado Springs, effective on all roads from November 1 to June 1, is $47.50 instead of $59 as it formerly was. Next winter even lower rates may be secured. This is a matter of tremendous importance to Colorado for it will do more than any other agency to make the state, and particularly Colorado Springs, known as an all the year round resort. The Rock Island, Santa Fe and other roads which handle this business are advertising Colorado in the Eastern magazines and newspapers with a lavishness of display that is sure to attract wide attention.

But there is one feature of the report over which it is hard to grow enthusiastic. The Chamber of Commerce has at the present time only 279 active members, whereas, in a city of 30,000 population it should have at least 500 members. This matter is up to the public spirited business and professional men of Colorado Springs whose duty it is to place themselves on the membership roll. The Chamber of Commerce is working earnestly to advance the interests of Colorado Springs, which means the interests of every resident. This work costs a great deal of money and it must be furnished by membership fees or private subscriptions. The larger the membership the larger will be the income and the greater will be the benefit from the increased expenditures. No citizen who takes pride in Colorado Springs and believes in its future should remain outside this organization. It is the plain duty of every one to give his active support and boost for all he is worth.

There were 9,240 suicides in the United States last year. The suicide rate is increasing several times faster than the population, and it is a problem that can not be dealt with by legislation, as can the divorce evil for instance. There is a chance for alienists to do some hard thinking on this subject with good results.

Senator Bailey's plan to have the Vice President who succeeds to the Presidency ineligible for election to another term, should have been sprung a year ago. It might have been possible then to legislate Theodore Roosevelt out of a second term, but it could have been done in no other way.

Anyway, Admiral Rojestvensky can point with pride to the fact that he was victorious in the only engagement of his cruise—the battle of Dogger Bank—and this is a better record than was made by the Russian Pacific squadron.

Tom Watson has started a magazine, probably thinking that his name sounds enough like Tom Lawson's to make people buy it in the hope of getting something frenzied.

Barney Oldfield has bought a new automobile. The spectators will please step back a few hundred yards.

Dr. Chadwick says the public has misunderstood his wife. It understands her now, however.

PRETTY TEACHERS BOLT AND DECLARE THEY WILL DEMAND A NEW ELECTION AND A SQUARE DEAL.

YORK, Pa., Jan. 11.—"We just won't serve under those superintendents. Their friends stuffed the ballot box and in a Sunday school election, too."

Pretty [illegible] young religious idea how to shoot took exclusive an election of officers conducted recently by the Sunday School of the Church of God at Andersontown, a staid suburb, hitherto unsuspected of wild Sallieresque.

These protestants go farther. They will call a new election.

They declare that after the vote for two superintendents had ended in a tie a plot was hatched with its object the debasement of the ballot. The next vote, resulting in victory for Harry Trout and Harry Bigler, showed more votes than there were voters.

There was almost a row. Great accumulations of speech were released. Twenty voters bolted in a body. Among them were the young women who will demand a new election and "a square deal."

PRICE OF DIAMONDS

One Firm's Act Results in World-Wide Price Increase of Five Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Own a diamond? Get into the sunlight with it and note what a magical change has come over its luster. It gleams deeper and richer hints than it did the day before yesterday; its sparkle carries farther. Something in the atmosphere of the new year has put a strange fire into its glow.

Fact is, your diamond is worth 5 per cent more than it was a few days ago. This on the word of one firm of diamond merchants.

The DeBeers company, largest selling agent of "sparklers," has issued a new price list that adds $50,000,000 to the value of the world's supply of diamonds. Last Monday the total value of these gems was $1,000,000,000. Today it is $1,050,000,000. Your modest little $200 stone has won $10 for you while you slept. Keep it. More and greater winnings will follow. The world's supply of diamonds is diminishing, as compared with demand.

Prices, experts say, have just begun to soar.

BOOKER WASHINGTON

Prominent Southerners Fraternize With the Negro Educator—A Good Traveling Companion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Prominent men from the south, delegated by the citizens of Birmingham, Ala., and Knoxville, Tenn., to extend to President Roosevelt a cordial invitation to include those cities in his contemplated southern tour, fraternized on the trip to Washington with every evidence of mutual regard and enjoyment, with Booker T. Washington and Bishop Barnett.

After the visit to the White house today a member of the delegation, who is one of the most influential Democrats in the south and takes an active part in public affairs, declared, in describing the journey to a Tribune Bureau representative, that "Booker T. Washington is unquestionably the greatest man of his race in the world," and that he and Bishop Barnett made delightful traveling companions.

"Our delegation," he continued, "started out from Birmingham and fortunately picked up the Knoxville crowd on the way. We had separate Pullmans, with a common dining car. On the same train were Booker T. Washington and Bishop Barnett, who were on their way to New York, and it was not long before we were all congratulating ourselves that we had chosen the same line. We had a good time. There was an entire absence of any feeling, real or imaginary, over the fact that we were dining with Booker T. Washington and his colored associate. They were with us before, during and after our meals, and we enjoyed their company. The train was our home for a much longer time than we anticipated, being twenty-four hours late in arriving here, but we visited back and forth from car to car, made the best of our common trouble, and all got to be good friends.

"Funny, wasn't it," he concluded, "that we were dining with the man for whose entertainment the president we have just invited to our southern homes was so severely criticised?"

VERDECKBERG

Named by Governor Peabody for Brigadier General of National Guard—Adams Revokes Order.

DENVER, Jan. 11.—One of the last official acts of Gov. Peabody was the nomination of Col. Edward Verdeckberg to be brigadier general of the National Guard of Colorado. Col. Verdeckberg on Monday went before a notary public and took the oath of office.

He succeeds General Chase, whose commission expired on Jan. 1, 1904, over a year ago. Gov. Peabody did not fill the vacancy until Monday, owing to the fact that there were several names under consideration.

Gen. Chase, Majors A. H. Williams and George M. Lee of his staff were notified by registered letter that their terms of office had expired before Gen. Verdeckberg was sworn in.

One of the first official acts of Governor Alva Adams was to revoke the order appointing Colonel Verdeckberg to be brigadier general, and reinstating General John Chase, Major A. H. Williams and Major George M. Lee to their former commands.

ABOUT 35,000 MINERS ARE OUT IN GERMAN STRIKE

COLOGNE, Germany, Jan. 11.—The strike of coal miners has spread. Part or all of the diggers in seventeen additional mines did not go to work today. The number idle is about 35,000, or one-eighth of the total.

Divisions exist among the miners, some disapproving of a strike and refusing to quit work, so that the proprietors of some of the striking mines continue to work on part time.

An enterprise in Algeria is to manufacture natural soap on a large scale from a tree known as "Sapindus utilis." This plant, which has long been known in Japan, China and India, bears a fruit of about the size of a horse-chestnut, smooth and round. The color varies from a yellowish green to brown. The inner part is of a dark color and has an oily kernel. The tree bears fruit in its sixth year and yields from 5 to 20 pounds of fruit, which can easily be harvested.

JUVENILE COURTS.

Boston Paper Compares Defective Massachusetts Methods With Those in Vogue in Colorado.

The advantages of the juvenile court are so obvious that little argument is needed to show the desirability of this institution. In the first place it removes the children from the hardening influence of contact with adult criminals. The effect of ordinary court experience upon a young boy is degrading [illegible] and if he is tried in the same court with older offenders the result is to breed juvenile criminality. A separate juvenile court, combined with the probation system, brings to bear on young offenders influences that make for reformation and character-building. In the second place, the juvenile court enables the judge dealing with this single class of cases to become a specialist. He comes into close personal touch with boys and acquires an expert knowledge of ways and means of juvenile reformation. If he has the right personality he may make himself the guide, philosopher and friend of the street urchins, and may wield incalculable influence for good. The work of Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the Denver juvenile court shows the splendid possibilities in this field. In the third place, the probationary method can be employed more extensively and more effectively through the juvenile court. It is clear that this system, which is peculiarly suited to juvenile cases, can be made more efficient when administered by special probation officers chosen for their fitness for managing boys. This improvement of the probationary method is not the least of the benefits of the juvenile court.

The present system of dealing with juvenile cases in the Boston municipal court is very backward as compared with the advanced methods of Denver, Chicago, New York, and other cities. In Boston there is merely a separate session for juvenile offenders and another for truants and neglected children. There is no separate place of detention for juvenile offenders; there are no special probation officers for them. The juvenile session is held moreover, at the close of the regular sitting of the court, and the judge, wearied by a long docket of miscellaneous cases, is not likely to give the close personal attention to the juvenile offenders which the latter peculiarly require. A recent visitor to the juvenile session states that he was particularly struck by the absence of interest on the part of the judge, and by the fact that every child was sent away with no proper word of advice and encouragement, but ordinarily in a don't care frame of mind and with an angry father when a fine was collected. "In the majority of cases," says this observer, "there is no bond of sympathy between the judge and the delinquent, no effort at reformation and character-building, but a condition that must, to a partial degree, lead to further delinquencies and lack of reformation."

The juvenile court of Denver furnishes a model of what such an institution should be. The chief features of the Denver system are: A court with one judge and a separate place of meeting; a separate place of detention; special probation officers for children, and measures for enforcing the responsibility of parents for juvenile delinquencies. A committee on juvenile delinquents of the Massachusetts Civic league and other societies is now investigating the subject of children's courts, and will probably, in the near future, report the outline of a plan for Boston. It ought not to be difficult to secure the adoption of the main features of that plan when attention has been called to the inadequacy of the existing system and the advantages of the separate court. Boston should speedily put itself abreast of other cities in this important branch of social reform. The juvenile court is not a sentimental fad, but a commonsense method of dealing with the difficult problem of juvenile delinquency. It has proved its utility in other cities, and should be incorporated at the earliest possible moment into the judicial system of this Commonwealth.—Boston Transcript.

A YEAR BOOK AND GUIDE.

You frequently hear mention of dead languages. Well, some facts are even deader, but these are not the kind that The Tribune Almanac deals in. By way of verifying that, just take a cursory glance over the issue for 1905, which is now on sale. It is not an Almanac in the dictionary sense of the word, but is really a ready reference and guide-book containing everything that such a compilation ought to have. And the material has been garnered and sifted and tested with the utmost care so as to secure absolute accuracy, or at least get as near to it as honest, painstaking endeavor will bring one.

Herein will be found a perfect gold mine of information on topics of interest, not only to every American but likewise to all who care to know about us, our laws, population, officials, and so forth. (And by the way, if you have any friends in Europe, just send them a copy and see if they don't appreciate it.)

There isn't anything missing in the way of records which the average man will want to know about. It doesn't matter what the subject—pension legislation, sporting statistics, facts about universities, colleges, patriotic societies, population, public officials, to say nothing of a condensed guide of New York City, a map of the underground railroad system, showing the location of stations, and a table telling railroad distances, fares, etc.

In fact, it is really not an exaggeration to say that of a hundred and one things a sane person wants to know, at least ninety-nine will be found in The Tribune Almanac.

ADDRESSING PARLIAMENT.

It is well not to speak too soon. Randolph Churchill only opened his mouth once during the first session, and that was to ask a question. John Morley sat watching and listening for months before he ventured to catch the speaker's eye, and his first performance was by no means successful. We all know the story of Disraeli's early collapse and a more frank episode is related by Lord North's son Frederick. "I once attempted to speak in parliament. I brought out two or three sentences, when a mist seemed to rise before my eyes. I then lost my recollection and could see nothing but the speaker's wig, which swelled and swelled till it covered the whole house. I then sank back in my seat and never tried to speak again, and immediately applied for the Chiltern Hundreds, feeling convinced that parliament was my not vocation."

Physiologists have never attempted to explain why people who are loquacious, and even garrulous, as long as they maintain the sweet security of a seat, halt and stutter, and perhaps break down hopelessly when they attempt to speak on their legs. Every one of us must some time or other have suffered from one of these sudden lapses of memory. Lord Rosebery not long ago came to a dead halt in the middle of a speech; Lowe's hopeless collapse in the house of commons is still painfully remembered, and poor Black Rod, on his first appearance, clean forgot the message from the Lords; not even Campbell-Bannerman's promptings restored his memory, and the speaker was obliged to say that he understood that a message was being brought to ask the attendance of the lower house in the Lords. And even Jupiter has nodded. Mr. Gladstone himself once lost his eye and stopped abruptly when Disraeli leant forward and said, "The right honorable gentleman's last word was 'so-and-so.'"

—Longman's Magazine.

A peculiar accident happened recently at a bull fight in Bordeaux. The matador stabbed the bull with a sword that did not penetrate, whereupon the infuriated animal tossed the weapon in the air and attacked a torador. The sword fell among the spectators, injuring Counsel Calderon, an officer in the Spanish navy, who was present at the fight as a guest of the Bordeaux organizers of the spectacle. The wound was serious and the seaman had to be carried off to the hospital. After this the officers became exasperated and broke to pieces benches and stools into the ring, throwing the bull fighters with loaded chairs and knowing nothing about bull fights.

J. W. SHEAFOR'S APPOINTMENT ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY

ATTORNEY J. W. SHEAFOR.

[illegible] yesterday afternoon and goes into effect at once. The appointment met with very general approval from those to whom it was announced. Mr. Sheafor said last evening that he would assume the duties of his new position as soon as he could qualify, and that he would furnish his bond of $5,000 this morning. This bond has to be filed with the secretary of state, and the formality of filing it will delay the appointment from going into effect a few hours.

Mr. Sheafor will not resign his present position at once but will do so as soon as he can get the affairs of that office into shape to be transferred to his successor.

"I knew that my name was being considered by Mr. Hamlin," said Mr. Sheafor, "but I was not aware of my appointment until this afternoon and it took me somewhat by surprise. Not knowing that I was to be appointed, I have not had any chance to get my present office in shape for a change, but it will take but a few days."

Mr. Sheafor has been city attorney for nearly four years. He was formerly associated with Judge J. W. Adv, and was Republican candidate for district attorney six years ago. He is local counsel for the Rock Island and has tried some important cases in local and state courts. He is well versed in law, a close student and a hard worker and his manner of delivery always impresses a jury.

No names have been mentioned in connection with the city attorneyship to succeed Mr. Sheafor as the news of the appointment was not known to the aldermen last evening.

The position of assistant district attorney is more important than that of deputy as it invests the incumbent with all the powers of the district attorney and permits him to travel all over the district.

BOB TAYLOR TELLS STRANGE STORY OF HOW HE WAS SEVERELY BURNED WHILE IN DRUNKEN STUPOR.

Bob Taylor, a well known character of Colorado City, is carrying with him some bad burns on his arms, breast and hands, which he says he received from a shovelful of live coals, which were thrown at him.

Taylor told his story in a barber shop yesterday and was perfectly sober while talking. He says he recollects being in a drunken stupor Wednesday night and that during the stupor he got into a quarrel with some one whom he cannot recall, and that in the quarrel the unknown man threw a shovelful of hot coals squarely into his breast, causing the burns.

Taylor's injuries were dressed yesterday by City Physician C. S. Morrison. Whether his story is true or not, Taylor's injuries are painfully true, and will take a long time to heal.

Taylor was the companion of Jack Jones, the man who dropped dead on the Midland depot platform Sunday morning. Taylor says he stole a bottle of wood alcohol from a shed in the "red-light" district and, after taking a drink, gave a drink to Jones, who died from the effects. He claims to be able to drink wood alcohol like water, and states that once in Victor he and three others drank some and he was the only one who lived. At that time he refused to let the doctors pump the poison out of his stomach.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNIONS RECEIVED LIBERALLY FOR CUMMINGS MEMORIAL LIBRARY. CHICAGO GIVES $1,500.

The Cummings memorial committee is [illegible] along with its work of raising the remainder of the funds required for the addition to the Union Printers' home in this city. All the members have received their literature and have sent it out to the unions of their various districts. Already, too, the agitation has borne fruit. The Chicago union has donated $1,500 more than its quota; Des Moines, Iowa, has increased its amount, and a number of other unions have informed the committee that they have acted favorably on the proposition. It is believed that the January meetings of the various unions will practically make the proposition unanimous. A number of unions report that they will increase the amounts required.

The matter is being thoroughly agitated among the union printers of the country, and for the better handling of the affair the entire jurisdiction has been divided among the eleven committeemen, each member sending out literature and being responsible for all the unions in his territory. Harvey E. Garman, of Denver, secretary of the committee, is in charge of the district including Colorado. In the January issue of the Typographical Journal he states that the outlook so far is very flattering.

Since November 21, 1904, the contributions for Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, D. C., Des Moines, Manchester, Shreveport, Pueblo and Lincoln, have amounted to $1,774.35. The expenditures for the month amounted to $[illegible], leaving a balance in the fund of $9,438.24. J. W. Bramwood, secretary-treasurer, of Indianapolis, Ind., is custodian of the fund.

VOTE AGAINST CADETS' BALL

ANNUAL SOCIAL EVENT AT HIGH SCHOOL WILL BE DISCONTINUED.—FRANK SMITH ELECTED MAJOR.

The cadet ball is a thing of the past. At a meeting of the High school cadet battalion yesterday afternoon, the matter of continuing the custom and giving the annual ball this spring was brought up and defeated by a vote of 24 to 23. The cadet balls have been given annually under the auspices of the cadet corps for the last ten years and have been the biggest social events among the younger set. There has been opposition to them every year, but this is the first year that it has been strong enough to prevail. They are discontinued for financial and other reasons.

Lieutenant Frank Smith of company A was yesterday elected major of the battalion to succeed Major Marion Kirkwood, resigned. Major Smith has made an efficient officer and the choice is a good one. Adjutant Lynn Gale was strongly supported by his friends. Captain Leon Fairley of company A has left school and nominations were yesterday opened for his position and also for those of the two lieutenants of the company.

Mr. Voorhees says that in order to get one ton of the valuable stone it will be necessary to mine 100 tons of waste.

EL PASO CLUB ANNUAL BALL

ELABORATE ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE FOR THE CLIMAX OF THE WINTER SOCIAL SEASON.

The El Paso club ball, the most elaborate social event of the entire season, will occur in the handsome club house tomorrow night. Invitations for this highly anticipated function, of which there are several hundred, are much sought by the society people, not only of the city, but of the entire state. Through the secretary, George Rex Buckner, the organization has extended a special invitation to the members of the Denver club. Several have sent acceptances and the ball will doubtless be one of the most brilliant in its history.

William Henry Evans, chairman; F. M. P. Taylor, F. W. Stehr, J. A. Connell and J. S. Tucker, the committee named by the president, Sherwood Aldrich, to perfect all arrangements, have engaged Irvine's orchestra, which in past years has rendered delightful music for the dancing.

The floral decorations will be massive palms and other tropical plants in addition to quantities of cut flowers. During intermission, one of the elaborate course suppers for which the club is famous, will be served in the dining rooms.

The electric lights will be veiled in colors calculated to enhance the beauty of the scene. Many elegant gowns have been especially ordered for this occasion and the display of rare jewels and laces will be a marvel to anyone unfamiliar with Colorado Springs society functions.

Thomas McLaren has designed the artistic large poster programs which will be placed on the walls for reference in lieu of small individual programs.

The wives of the trustees of the club have been invited to receive: Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich, Mrs. Clarence C. Hamlin, Mrs. Henry McAllister, Jr., Mrs. Kurnal H. Babbitt, Mrs. S. Edwin Solly, Mrs. John Speed Tucker, Mrs. J. Arthur Connell, Mrs. Winfield S. Boynton, Mrs. A. Sutton.

REVOLVES AT DETROIT

CHIEF OF POLICE THINKS HE HAS LOCATED THE ALLEGED MURDERER OF THE MT. CUTLER VICTIM.

Chief of Police W. S. Reynolds is in Detroit looking for the murderer of Mrs. Bessie Bouton, the Cutler mountain victim.

After a woeful ignorance of over a week in regard to the whereabouts of their chief, the local police officers last night conceded that Chief Reynolds is out tracing up Franklin, who is said to be going under the alias of George Conklin. The members of the force stated yesterday that they had no idea where Chief Reynolds is at the present time but they conceded that he is after the Cutler mountain murderer and are of the opinion that he will bring his man back with him.

Chief Reynolds, it has developed, first got track of his man in Denver where a mysterious stranger, it was reported, tried to dispose of some diamonds over a month ago. From Denver he followed the clue and, it is hoped, has caged his man in Michigan.

The following Associated Press dispatch from Detroit tells of his presence in that city:

DETROIT, Jan. 11.—The murderer of Mrs. Bessie Bouton, the Syracuse, N. Y., woman whose body was found near Colorado Springs, Colo., December 17, is believed to be in Detroit and Chief of Police Reynolds of Colorado Springs is now in this city searching for him. Chief Reynolds traced George Conklin, who is wanted in connection with the case, from Denver to Chicago, thence to Battle Creek and Jackson, Mich., where it is said Conklin tried to dispose of some valuable jewelry. Conklin had left Jackson when the chief arrived there and it is thought he came to Detroit or Mount Clemens. Both cities are being searched.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of Social Science Department Enjoyed Two Able Addresses Yesterday Afternoon.

The severely cold weather accounted for the unusually small audience present yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the social science department of the Woman's club held in Caledonian hall. Mrs. W. A. Gray, the chairman, introduced as the first speaker, Charles A. Perkins, of Manitou, who gave a most instructive address on "Fundamental Maxims in Law." Mr. Perkins' remarks were very much appreciated as was demonstrated by the many complimentary remarks heard concerning them.

The latter portion of the afternoon, Dr. Margaret H. Beeler spoke on "War and International Arbitration." The subject was ably handled, reasons being given for the justifiable war such as protection of rights of gaining the independence of a country; and unjustifiable war in desire to gain more territory, etc.

Dr. Beeler quoted largely from Tolstoi, the subject of war being one upon which he has written voluminously. She devoted considerable time to the peace movement and the famous world conferences, showing that governments are yielding to the general desire for the abolishment of war and the substitution of arbitration.

Previous to adjournment Mrs. Kerr extended a special invitation to the members of the club to attend the lecture of Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, which is to be delivered tomorrow evening in the High School auditorium under the auspices of the Schoolmaster's club.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The three days' conference between members of the boys' departments of the Denver, Pueblo and Colorado Springs associations, which has been planned for January 27, 28 and 29, is now assured. Jesse Arnold, secretary of the local boys' department, received word yesterday from the secretaries of the different boys' departments assuring him of their co-operation. Plans for united work will be discussed and inter-association athletic events pulled off in the gymnasium.

The annual banquet for the members of the association will be held tomorrow evening in the boys' parlors. Mrs. E. E. Baty, of the Mothers' auxiliary, has charge of the affair.

A stamp club will be organized this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the boys' department. F. H. Dunnington will have charge of the club.

The Electrical club of the boys' department resumed its work last night.

DELICATE OPERATION WAS SUCCESSFULLY PERFORMED.

George S. Weaver, 70 years old, widely known as the "Printer Preacher," has been successfully operated on at St. Francis hospital by Dr. D. I. Christopher, assisted by Dr. A. K. Hutchins. The patient was suffering from enlargement of the prostate gland at the neck of the bladder and would have died in a few hours had the operation been delayed. The case is attracting great interest in the medical world as the operation was an extremely delicate one.

WORK IN PROGRESS ON LEASES

Lease on the Gold Sovereign Mine Expires on February 1.

A BIG PROPOSITION

LESSEES WANT TO MAKE BEST OF THEIR LIMITED TIME AND WILL INCREASE THE SHIPMENTS.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—An ore shoot which has proven to be continuous from the surface to the bottom level has been encountered in the bottom level of the Gold Sovereign workings on Beacon hill. The face of the ore shoot measuring eight feet in width. The entire ore shoot broken down together will return values of $50 to the ton. While this body of ore has been worked for over 600 feet and has proven a big proposition both to the Cripple Creek Gold Temple Leasing company as well as to the Gold Sovereign company, yet the ore has now been proven to continue further with depth and there is no telling how much deeper it can be worked.

This property now under lease to the Cripple Creek Gold Temple company reverts to the company February 1, so the lessees are pushing the work of taking out ore at a terrific rate employing three shifts of men and hoisting practically nothing but ore from the workings, as they are doing their best to get out every pound of rock that is possible before their lease expires. By a clause in their lease the lessees are allowed ten days after February 1 in which to clean up their workings so it is positive that they will break ore up until midnight of January 31.

The leasing company have been sending out from three to five carloads of ore of late and expect to increase this a little bit from now till February 10.

It will be remembered that the treasurer's report of the Gold Sovereign company, that was published in these columns a few days ago showed that the net profits of the company amounted to approximately $25,000 as a total of 6,555 tons had been shipped during the year that had a gross value of $153,103.00 of which the net returns from the whole amount were nearly $101,000. This splendid report was largely due to the work accomplished by the Cripple Creek Gold Temple Leasing company whose profits during the past year amounted to $75,000.

NEW STRIKE ON THE MABEL M

LEASING COMPANY OPERATING THIS BEACON HILL PROPERTY WILL GO 100 FEET DEEPER. WILL RUN LATERAL.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The Milwaukee Mutual Leasing company which has been operating under lease the Mabel M property belonging to the Gold Dollar Consolidated company, located on Beacon hill, expects to commence sinking a new lift of 100 feet about January 15, which will give the shaft a depth of 635 feet, making it the deepest workings on the southeast slope of the hill.

When sinking is completed a lateral will be run for considerable distance in order to get at the ore that has proven so profitable to the lessee in the 530-foot level.

LEXINGTON

Two Leases Through the Main Workings on Gold Hill Granted to Men Who Will Push Work.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The Lexington company has granted two leases through their main workings on Gold hill, one to Magner and associates, the other to Gardner and others. Both operators have commenced to push work and both are confident that they will be sending out regular shipments in a very short time.

RED SPRUCE COMPANY HOLDS MEETING TODAY.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—The deferred annual meeting of the Red Spruce Gold Mining company will be held in the company's office in the Doyle block in Victor at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at which time matters pertaining to the welfare of the company will come up and the election of a board of directors to serve for the ensuing year will take place.

NEW STRIKE IN FINDLEY

Miners Open Large and Rich Vein at the 800-Foot Depth.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—Miners working on the Findley property on Bull hill have opened up a parallel vein with the main Findley vein some feet east which is on average 3 feet in shoot to the mine.

The new ore shoot was encountered at a depth of 800 feet and while it has only been proven up for a distance of 15 feet yet the management is satisfied that it will extend to surface, giving them a body of ore 800 feet in length which adds greatly to the already large ore reserves of this property.

At the point in the 800-foot level where the vein has been encountered, the breast now measures from 2½ to 3 feet in width all of which will average $40 to the ton, and situated as the ore shoot is it will be accessible from every level of the mine with very little expense of reaching it makes it all the more important to the company.

The ore shoot extends largely into the Shurtleff ground which property was recently consolidated with the Findley, and it is possible that this was partly known when the consolidation was made and it only goes to prove that the new Findley Consolidated company is one of the greatest little companies in the district.

SPRAGUE BUSY MINE

H. M. SPRAGUE PLACES MACHINERY ON GROUSE MOUNTAIN TO DEVELOP HIS PROPERTY SYSTEMATICALLY.

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 11.—H. M. Sprague who owns quite a large acreage on Grouse mountain is now pushing the work of driving a large tunnel which is expected to open up some good looking veins which are known to exist in this hill at a depth of 300 feet and better.

Mr. Sprague, after first locating the veins near surface, from which he received satisfactory returns, was sufficiently encouraged to commence this large amount of work and is now equipped with all necessary machinery, a good road to the property, and he will develop the hill in a systematic manner. He is confident of opening up a shipper in the near future.

NO CHANGE OF LEADERSHIP

STOCK MARKET SHOWS NO CHANGE FROM THE PREVIOUS NIGHT—CONDITION OF MONEY MARKET—OUTGO OF GOLD.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Such a market as there was for stocks today was regarded by trading operations by professionals in attempts to discover the trend of the market. The attempts were unsuccessful for the simple reason that the market had no trend. There was a condition of lethargy with prices very near to last night's level.

The undertone is undoubtedly firm and such trading operations as the professional operators venture upon are indicative of a spirit of hopefulness for higher prices. Thus for several days past the transactions have been light buying orders with following recessions and the disappointing fact is developed that traders are long in the market. The stagnant condition of speculation is a surprise to those who looked for active dealings with the January congestion of money supply and the effort to find explanation for it points to various surmises.

The natural accumulation of money in New York is modified to some extent by the outgo of gold and next week's requirement of $10,000,000 for the return of government deposits is subject for consideration. But the almost plethoric condition of the money market and the loan in the sales prevailing make this an improbable explanation for the neglected speculation.

The unprecedented rush of depositors at the local savings banks this week is offered as part explanation of the diversion of investment funds, the attraction being the advance in the interest rate to depositors offered by many of the banks. Then there is some distrust of the level to which prices had been pushed in anticipation of the January movement. The rise of a few special stocks left the indeterminate tone of the market unchanged up to the close.

The movement of bond prices was irregular but there was a well diffused activity in the market. Total sales, par value, $3,540,000.

United States bonds were unchanged.

CHICAGO PRICES ADVANCE IN GRAIN PITS

MARKET STARTS OUT EASY AND SOME FLUCTUATIONS FOLLOW. CLOSE IS FIRM—CORN AND OATS FIRM.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Lower cables with rain and snow in the southwest caused an easy tone in wheat at the opening. May was unchanged to ⅛ lower at 116¾ to ⅞. Selling was quite liberal at the start, and May declined to 116⅛. A number of large commission houses soon became fairly active buyers and as a result prices readily advanced. The high point on May for the day was reached at 117⅛@⅜. Profit taking for a prominent holder, followed by quite general selling on the part of the pit traders caused a sharp reaction, May declining to 116⅛. During the last half hour of trading the greater part of the loss was regained on renewed covering by shorts. The market closed firm, with May at 117@⅛.

Smaller local and primary receipts had a steadying effect on the corn market. May closed at 44⅝@¾, unchanged.

In sympathy with the firmness of other grains, the oats market was steady. May closed unchanged at 31¾.

Early in the day sentiment in the provision market was comparatively bearish, owing to weakness of hogs at the yards. May pork closed 7½ up, May lard was off a shade and ribs were 2½@5 up.

SMARTEST SWINDLES.

Very Often Ignorant Men Can Victimize an Intelligent Person on Account of Apparent Stupidity.

"It is not always clever or intelligent people who are able to swindle their fellow men out of large sums of money," said J. R. Armond, of Austin, Tex., at the Ebbitt House.

"Curiously enough, some of the smartest confidence games ever perpetrated have been worked by ignorant men. I recall the case of a very excellent man who held the office of county treasurer in my state, being victimized by an illiterate negro to the extent of something like $50,000. How did he work it? Easily enough, and by using an ancient trick that ought not to deceive a child. This negro, ignorant as he was and apparently without guile, wormed himself into the confidence of the other by the pretence that he knew an old Mexican who had buried an immense amount of gold in an out of the way spot not far from Austin.

"In the early stages of the swindle the treasurer gave the negro a few hundred dollars of his own money, the rascal promising him that he would get the key of the chest containing the treasure from the aged Greaser. Time after time he came for more money, always having a sleek excuse for not producing the key; but so strong a hold had he obtained over his victim that the latter never had his faith in the story weaken. At last he began to give up the money that belonged to the county, for the reason that unless further funds were forthcoming the mythical Mexican would get in a sulk and refuse to do anything. So it was that good money was sent after bad, as is always the way in such cases, and one day the public was shocked to hear of the suicide of the treasurer of the county, followed quickly by the news that he was a defaulter to the extent of many thousands. Then the whole story came out, and to this day men who knew the dead man haven't ceased to wonder how one of his intelligence could have been taken in by such an apparently shallow trick."—Washington Post.

The TELEGRAPH JOB ROOMS

Office temporarily on second floor.

119 EAST PIKE'S PEAK AVENUE

The only complete job printing office in the city, fitted with typesetting machines and presses. One profit does us, we don't have to give one to the other fellow.

The crowd continues to pour into The Telegraph Job Rooms and if you are not in "the push" you are out of luck. That tried, true and always reliable printery is still taking care of the crowd in the good old way and at the same old stand, though the office is temporarily moved to the second floor, to permit repairs on the first floor. But you don't have to go to the office, call up the man at Phone 79 he enjoys "hurry up" orders.

A PLEASED CUSTOMER IS THE FIRST CONSIDERATION. We want to give you our first consideration. If you've tried it you know it you haven't you've missed much.

Sensational incidents are not uncommon in the closing stages of famous criminal trials. One of the most remarkable occurred in Melbourne on the last day of the trial of Ned Kelley, known to thousands of readers of penny action as the "ironclad bushranger of Australia." A knife dropped from a gallery overhead and fell at the feet of the desperado in the dock. He had every temptation to grasp it and put an end to his existence, for there was not the slightest chance of his escaping the gallows. But it was promptly picked up by a bailiff and its owner was arrested and brought before the judge. He pleaded that the occurrence was purely accidental, and the explanation was accepted by the court.
